U.S. ASKED TO KEEP HANDS OFF SPAIN

JAIL DRIVERS BEFORE THEY ENTER CARS

State Patrol Watches
Highway 'Joints' to
Nab Offenders

Drunks, staggering out of highway "joints" on Saturday nights, will be jailed before they get into cars and accidents.

These orders were issued today by Acting Capt. Walter W. Meyer of the California Highway patrol, in a new drive to cut the accident fatality list in Orange county.

"We'll grab them and throw them in jail no matter who they are," Meyer said, "even though they're sons of officials. This business of drunk driving and accidents caused by liquor obtained in these places has got to stop."

Many Open All Night

Meyer pointed out that many roadside beer parlors and other establishments remain open until 5 and 6 a. m. on Sundays, hourly discharging a dozen or so drunks who reel into cars, weave off down the road, and often kill or maim an innocent driver.

"We arrested five or six last week-end, and there weren't any traffic deaths or serious accidents," he said. "This may be part of the solution to the auto accident problem. We're going at it full force."

"Some of our day patrolmen will be put on special Saturday night duty. They'll watch all these places during the night, and arrest every drunk who comes out. Then these people will keep out of cars and keep out of accidents."

Law Limits Sale

State liquor laws prohibit sale of liquor after 2 a. m., but the establishments outside incorporated cities may stay open as long as they want, provided—legally under the law—that they do not sell liquor. If they do sell liquor, their proprietors are subject to fine or imprisonment.

"They'll find no favoritism here," Meyer said. "We'll probably get some complaints from the fellows who run these places, but that won't make any difference. We're vitally interested in cutting down accidents, and we think this is a good way to help do it. If a man wants to drink he can stay home. The highway's no place for him, and he'll find himself in jail if we see him."

FULTON FISH MART FALLS

NEW YORK, (AP)—The 66-year-old Fulton fish market, a landmark of Manhattan's lower east side, collapsed early today and fell into the East River.

It was in the two-story concrete and wood structure that Alfred E. Smith worked as a boy for $12 a week.

George Clark, 73-year-old night watchman, who was inside the structure, was injured critically by falling debris as another man sought to reach the roof to safety. Twelve persons escaped.

For 150 feet the market stretched along the river with 50 of its 75 feet depth erected on pilings over the water.

These pilings collapsed and carried part of the building tumbling into the water as well as pulling down the sections pillared on South Street.

Come Back to Work, Charlie

Come on back to work, Charlie! WPA's national headquarters decided today that it's all right after all for workers to run for public office. That is, if they are in "non-supervisory" WPA jobs.

So Charlie McLaughlin, Santa Ana's Communist candidate for congress can go back to his WPA chorus job if he wants to. He's been hired and fired so often in the past month they never know whether to print his name on the chorus programs.

Manager Dan Mulhannon of Orange county WPA said he hadn't received the bulletin on the new order yet, but probably will tomorrow. In the meantime McLaughlin, he said, is off the WPA rolls and his eligibility will be discussed when the time comes.

Quick, Watson, the Needle! WPA Boss Ignores Forum, But Has Men Working on it

By BRADEN FINCH

So far as WPA Administrator Dan Mulhannon knows, officially speaking, there isn't any such thing as the federal forum upon which Director Homer C. Chaney has been working so hard these past few weeks.

But so far as Mr. Mulhannon knows, unofficially speaking, there is a federal forum, because he has read a piece or two about it in the papers.

Until official notice comes from Washington about the $23,205 adult educational experiment, the WPA boss can't do anything for Mr. Chaney in the way of sending him relief workers to get the job in motion.

"We can't certify WPA workers to the federal forum when we haven't been notified officially of its existence. Washington wouldn't stand for it. We can't assign workers to everybody who comes along and claims he has a federal project."

All Is Confusion

This is what Mr. Mulhannon, who is also mayor of San Clemente and a key man in the "Ham" Cotton cabinet, told your reporter in effect yesterday, following conviction of trespassing, which brought a 60-day jail sentence.

The law providing money for WPA says that none of it shall go in salary or expenses to anyone who is a candidate, but the interpretation today says this does not apply to ordinary WPA workers, because they receive "wages" and not "salaries."

Partially disabled by infantile paralysis he contracted while treating patients at the Orange county hospital, Mrs. Marva Best, former nurse, today was offered a $1000 settlement by the county board of supervisors.

Dr. F. W. Slabough, county purchasing agent and director of the county insurance division, reported Mrs. Best had agreed on that figure. She has been receiving county compensation since suffering an attack of infantile paralysis a year ago.

Only 10 scientists at a time were admitted to a small room where the apparatus was working with a piece of thyroid gland.

JAPAN SWIM TEAM SETS NEW MARK

U. S. Rowers Make Sorry
Showing; Peru Quits
Games in Huff

BERLIN, (AP)—Japan's great natators moved on to new triumphs today as the tenth day's program of the 11th Olympic games otherwise was marked by America's first gold medal in aquatic competition and the withdrawal in high dudgeon of Peru's entire delegation.

While America was finishing one-two-three in the springboard diving finals with Dick Degener, Marshall Wayne and Al Greene finishing in that order, Japan snared not only the men's 500-meter swimming relay in record-breaking time but also the women's 200-meter breast stroke crown as Hideko Maehata nosed out Germany's Martha Genenger by one foot.

Peru withdrew its delegation as a result of the international football federation's ruling that the South Americans' 4-2 victory over Austria last Saturday would have to be re-played. Peru subsequently forfeited the match. Columbia, as evidence of sympathy for the Peruvian point of view, indicated it likewise would withdraw from the games.

Meanwhile the opening of rowing competition saw the United States' representatives make a sad showing. The four with coxswain finished in a tie for fourth place in the heat won by the defending champions, Germany; the pairs without coxswain, George Lewis Dahn and Harry Sharkey of Philadelphia, finished fourth and last in their heat, and Dan Barrow of Philadelphia was fifth in his heat of singles sculls.

Protests, said to involve charges of professionalism, delayed the scheduled sail-offs for the six-meter and eight-meter yachting titles.

1000 ESCAPE IN ASYLUM FIRE

MOUNT PLEASANT, Iowa, (AP)—More than 1000 panic-stricken patients escaped early today when a spectacular fire destroyed the state hospital for the insane here.

Many of the 5000 spectators assembled in controlling the inmates as they were hurried out of the flaming structure. The townspeople looked on from a cordoned-down this lane formed by the crowd the attendants conducted their deranged charges—a number of them screaming and wailing in their fright.

A number of patients, unable to walk, were carried from the blazing building, fifteen escaped. Several employees, trapped in the apartments on the upper floors and clad only in night clothing, were brought to the ground on ladders.

LINDBERGH SHOWS 'HEART' Scientists Inspect Invention

COPENHAGEN, (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today demonstrated his mechanical heart to a large audience of fellow scientists.

America's noted flier, who turned to the laboratory in cooperation with Dr. Alexis Carrel to invent an artificial heart, appeared on a platform before the International Congress of Experimental Cytology to explain the apparatus.

Only 10 scientists at a time were admitted to a small room where the apparatus was working with a piece of thyroid gland.

PLANT SPRAY KILLS LOCAL WORKMAN

Poison Insecticide Is Fatal to Employee on Tubach Ranch

Stricken violently ill from effects of a deadly nicotine plant spray he was applying to trees, Raymond Fellis, 31, died a short time later yesterday afternoon. Efforts of the fire department's rescue squad to resuscitate him were fruitless.

Fellis, an employee on the Walter Tubach ranch, 1130 South Lyon street, was spraying trees on Ritchie street yesterday afternoon when he was stricken and went home. He died before medical assistance arrived.

An inquest was set for 10 a. m. tomorrow at the Brown and Wagner funeral home. Coroner Earl Abbey said the victim might have gotten some of the poisonous spray in his mouth by brushing his hand across his face.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Arabellina Fellis, a daughter, Gwendolyn; his father, Albert Fellis, and a brother, Richard Fellis, Wichita, Kan.

LEWIS DEFIES A. F. OF L.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Formally defying an ultimatum from the leadership of the American Federation of Labor, John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization went ahead today with plans to organize steel workers and other mass production employees into huge industrial unions.

At an unannounced meeting last night, the committee decided to ignore the recent "verdict" of the A. F. of L. executive council. The council had found 10 unions affiliated with the committee guilty of "fomenting insurrection" within the steel industry.

Soon after the verdict, Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, announced informally that he and his associates would "carry on." This decision was affirmed by the committee itself last night.

In effect, the decision served notice that the committee would not disband, despite the demands of the A. F. of L. leaders.

It emphasized anew the split between the Lewis faction, which believes that in general workers in each mass production industry should be organized into one large union, and the craft unionists dominating the federation's executive council. The latter believes that many such workers, notably the highly skilled ones, should be organized into various unions according to their particular crafts.

Ickes Son Said Driving Drunk

MOBURN, Mass. (AP)—District Court Clerk Charles H. Loring said today he had issued a complaint charging Robert H. Ickes, described by Patrolman John Dolan as the son of Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, with operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

The complaint will be heard Aug. 19, Loring said.

Santa Ana Drum Corps Is Fourth

Santa Ana American Legion drum and bugle corps captured fourth place in the competitions held in Hollywood yesterday and today, in connection with the state Legion convention, an Associated Press dispatch said today.

First place was won by San Gabriel, with Los Angeles, Riverside and Santa Ana following in the order named.

King Will Feed Fish With $1500 Worth of Golf Balls

LONDON, (AP)—King Edward VIII took about $1500 worth of golf balls aboard his vacation yacht Nahlin just to send them zipping into the Adriatic Sea.

They are intended to improve his driving. A London Daily Mail dispatch from Belgrade said 3000 golf balls were taken aboard.

Since the yacht will hardly provide a suitable fairway for the royal drive off the tee, the balls will go to feed the fish in the Adriatic while the royal party is cruising.

Fascists Faced by Steel Wall

By Associated Press

Loyalist bayonets provided walls of steel against Fascist attacks on two widely separated fronts on Spain's civil war today. Far to the south of the capital city of Madrid, troops at the command of the Leftist government which is fighting for its life in this, the twenty-fourth day of the insurrection, slashed successfully at Moroccan forces northward by Gen. Francisco Franco.

In the extreme northwest corner of the peninsula nation insurgents began what appeared to be a final desperate assault on government-held communities on the Bay of Biscay.

The capture of three small villages by loyalist forces on the Zargoza front was interpreted to mean that the troops dispatched westward by the Catalan government gradually were inching their way into rebel-held territory.

The deep-throated explosion of shells along the entire front abutting San Sebastian, the Bay of Biscay seaside resort, and Irun, ostensibly betokened the opening of the rebel attack in the far north which was intended to consolidate rebel control from the Guadarrama to the ocean.

Government troops crumpled one section of the rebel lines in the south to capture the strategic town of Cordoba, 21 miles northwest of Cordoba. A fresh onslaught against Cordoba, important provincial capital, was imminent.

Along the government in the south were leftist warships which have kept up a running fire against the troop transports of Gen. Francisco Franco, generalissimo of the revolution. Only a portion of the massed thousands of Moroccan which Franco wanted to land on the peninsula for the march on Madrid have been ferried across the Straits of Gibraltar.

LOCAL LEGION MAN KILLED

Run down by an automobile as he stepped from a curbing in Hollywood during American Legion festivities, M. E. Meeks, 37, Santa Ana Legionnaire, was instantly killed today.

Associated Press dispatches said Norris M. Stockton, Universal City, was being held for questioning as police reported Stockton was driver of the car which struck Meeks. The accident occurred at Cahuenga boulevard and Wilcox avenue.

Meeks, former deputy constable here, was a member of the Santa Ana Legion post. He lived at 522 South Sycamore street. Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Vivian Meeks, teacher at Willard Junior High school. He recently had been a registration deputy and a guard on the outfall sewer project, friends said today.

SAFE LOOTED AT YORBA LINDA

It wasn't Jimmy Valentine who broke into the Yorba Linda Water Company's safe over the week-end. Sheriff's officers suspect everyone else, though.

Burglars "cracked" the company's safe not by dexterity, but with tools, officers reported today. The combination of the safe was punched out, $144 in cash removed, and traces of cotton gloves left on the safe.

Deputies today were checking footprints left near the scene. They said entrance had been gained through cutting a window screen and forcing a window. The combination of the vault had been punched out carefully, and one silver dollar was left lying on the floor.

FRENCH SEEK NEUTRALITY IN REVOLT

Warn Citizens to Leave
War Zone As Dangers
in Strife Increase

PARIS, (AP)—The French government decided today to invite the United States to join European nations in the Spanish neutrality agreement.

The proposal for a "hands-off" accord will be sent to Washington and other nations "more distantly" connected with the Spanish civil war after the powers immediately interested have given their adherence to the neutrality pact, the foreign office said.

Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, officials added, suggested "additions" to the pact in accepting it. They said he desired provisions to forbid "moral interference" such as sending money or giving other non-military aid to either side. None thought these conditions would prevent Italy's final agreement.

France Votes Funds

The French chamber deputies hurriedly voted 10,000,000 francs (approximately $658,850) to repatriate and protect French citizens in Spain but government spokesmen contended this would not alter France's "strict neutrality."

Officials said they hoped an agreement that would include the United States could be reached this week, definitely preventing the shipment of arms and ammunition to either side.

U. S. UNABLE TO PARTICIPATE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Authorized quarters expressed belief today that existing laws and policies provided no opportunity for the United States to join European nations in any agreement to maintain neutrality in the Spanish revolutionary crisis.

The American neutrality law compels the President to invoke embargoes on shipments of arms. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

CHAIN-TRUSSED BODY FOUND

OAKLAND, (AP)—The body of a man wrapped in chain and foot in heavy chains and with a rope twisted about his neck, was found near the Alameda end of the Dumbarton bridge today.

The body, apparently washed up by the tide, had been dead about five days, said John A. Lowman, deputy coroner.

The man, evidently a murder victim, said Under Sheriff Hugo Radbruch, was about 30 years old. The body was unclothed.

He Was a Polite Doggie

He was such a polite pup, that they knew he came from a good home. He showed it in his manners. And it is surprising how a family is judged by its pets. If your dog is a neighborhood nuisance, if he runs the other way when you whistle, if he is a pest at the beach, if he chews up the chickens next door—then folks start wondering about you. The Journal's new daily Home Service department offers a booklet on how to train pets. See page 9 for details.

JUDGE RAPS ASTOR CASE LAWYERS

"Irrelevant Matter" in Hearing Calls Down Jurist's Wrath

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Superior Judge Goodwin Knight sharply criticized opposing attorneys in the Mary Astor-Dr. Franklyn Thorpe marital dispute today and ordered an adjournment until 2 p. m. to expedite the court hearing.

Judge Knight ordered the lawyers to go back to their offices and prepare a case "limited to the issues now before the court."

Only One Question

He expressed the hope the hearing could be concluded in a day and a half, "or at the most, three days."

The court pointed out that the only question before him was the custody of the couple's 4-year-old daughter, Marylyn.

Miss Astor is seeking to have declared void the divorce won last year by Thorpe. She has charged that Dr. Thorpe was married previously and was not divorced when she wed him.

Irrelevant Matter

Dr. Thorpe's lawyers said today they had received affidavits to-day from Florida that disprove Miss Astor's claim he was married when he married her.

Miss Astor's efforts to set aside the divorce won last year by Dr. Thorpe, and to change the property settlement effected at that time are contained in separate suits.

Judge Knight declared that "much irrelevant matter" had been presented for his consideration.

MORE ABOUT LINDBERGH

Colonel have developed, "we have something very important for the study of the question of how to keep cells alive."

"Thanks to modern physiology we now understand how cells build up living matter."

"Back Door" Scientist

The Colonel himself exhibited a retiring modesty in explaining what his share of the experimental work had been.

Col. Lindbergh became a scientist by the "back door" route, and today's exhibition at Copenhagen marked his first public appearance in the new role.

Returning from a trail-blazing flight to Central America for Pan-American Airways, he turned from his course to fly inland over Yucatan. He saw the ruins of a temple half buried in the jungle.

Start Of Studies

Back in Washington, he reported the find to the Smithsonian institution and sought a book on Yucatan archeology.

The request was his first "lucky" break, marking his entrance into the world of science. Referred to the Carnegie Institution of Washington, he was invited to one of their camps at Pecos, N. M., to get some knowledge of archeology "in the field."

With increasing interest, he turned to the American Museum of Natural History in New York and gained permission to conduct experiments in the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

Lindbergh went there late in 1930, guaranteed privacy to such a degree that not even the exact date of his entrance was made public.

Five Years Work

It appears he became interested in one of the most fascinating problems of science. This was a "perfusion apparatus," designed to imitate some functions of the living heart. This mechanical heart required moving parts to drive "artificial blood." The parts had to be completely insulated against outside infection.

Scientists had worked on the problem since 1812. The heart piston, when Col. Lindbergh became interested, was moved by magnets. He undertook to devise a more efficient "heart."

In five years, scientific publications state, he made five glass hearts. Only the first and last were described. The first took its motive power from being rocked with a motion resembling the twirl of a Roman candle.

Whole Organs Alive

The fifth used compressed air. The air drives a piston of oil. The oil in turn forces gases to drive artificial blood in and out of two connected chambers of glass. In some superficial structural aspects the Lindbergh glass heart resembles a real heart.

With it, for the first time, Dr. Alexis Carrel said, scientists were able to keep whole organs of a body—heart, kidneys, spleen, thyroid, ovaries and suprarenal glands—living and growing indefinitely.

TED HUSING SUE

RENO, (AP)—Mrs. Frances Sizer Husing, pretty young actress known as Celia Ryland, filed suit in district court here today to divorce Edward B. (Ted) Husing, prominent radio sports announcer now in Berlin to broadcast the Olympic Games. She charged cruelty.

LABOR HEAD RESIGNS

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Leonard Janofsky's resignation as attorney for the national labor relations board in district 21, including Arizona and Southern California, becomes effective Monday, he said today. He plans return to private practice.

Just One Big Happy Family Now

The John C. Garners and the Daniel L. Pittmans were one big happy family after Louise Madeline, the "mix-up baby," claimed by them both, decided to divide her time between them. She had lived for 17 years with the Pittmans and then under terms of a court order determined that the Garners were her real parents. The two sets of parents are pictured above with the girl (left to right): Mrs. Pittman, Louise Madeline, Mr. Garner, Mrs. Garner and Mr. Pittman. (Associated Press Photo)

QUESTIONS IRK NEW DEAL AIDE BANNISTER

WILL RESIGN

NEW YORK, (AP)—Harry Bannister, red with anger, flared up in court today to ask Judge Morris Koenig:

"I don't see why I should answer these questions?"

He was undergoing his second day of cross-examination by lawyers representing three men Bannister accuses of having extorted $1800 from him in 1935 to suppress "vicious and vile" affidavits.

What brought the protest bursting from Bannister was a line of questioning concerning his manner of life. Assistant District Attorney Eugene J. Finnegan objected to the line of questioning.

Judge Koenig overruled the objection and permitted the questioning to proceed but warned the jury it should draw no inferences from the questions and answers. He said the questions merely tested the witness' credibility.

MORE ABOUT FORUM

Following an article in The Journal in which it was intimated that the Cotton gang was holding out on Chaney because he is a Republican and they are afraid he is going to use the forum to spread G. O. P. propaganda.

Today there are six assistants working on Mr. Chaney's staff. They were all sent there yesterday by the WPA division of employment office, a branch of Mulherson's setup. They are all certified WPA workers and have WPA work orders.

He Wants A Staff

Friends of Mr. Chaney today said that the forum director believes the WPA boss should give him due recognition as a project head, but that he didn't especially care so long as someone in the WPA office would keep on certifying the help needed for the forum which starts Sept. 1 at Tustin High school with a talk by Prof. Graham Laing of Caltech and another at Huntington Beach High school by Chaney himself.

Another big speaker whom Chaney has secured for his programs is Frank Miles, editor of the Iowa Legionnaire, Des Moines. Miles will speak in February.

AGAIN URGE AMERICANS TO LEAVE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A new appeal to Americans to leave the danger zone of the Spanish revolution was dispatched today by William Phillips, acting secretary of state.

In a message to the American embassy at Madrid, which state department officials said applied also to all other strife-torn cities in Spain where Americans are located, Phillips said:

Serious Situation

"I cannot urge too strongly that all American citizens who can possibly do so take advantage of present facilities to go to places of safety."

Phillips said the message was sent because of reports indicating an increasingly serious situation at Madrid and the possibility that present facilities for reaching Valencia by train from the capital must be disrupted.

STRIKER JURY DISAGREES

The orange pickers' strike in Orange county was over last month, but trials growing out of it will last well into September.

Last night a jury in Fullerton justice court made this certain, as it was unable to agree on guilt or innocence of Joe Espinoza and William Velarde, arrested there during the strike on vagrancy charges.

The jury was out several hours, and was released by Justice H. I. Spence when it reported agreement was impossible. A new trial was set for Sept. 3.

Yesterday's proceedings were marked by wrangling between attorneys and by a speech made by Velarde from the witness stand, in which he insisted he was not being paid for his activities, but assisted strikers only because of his sympathy for "the cause of the workingman."

He told reporters he planned to return to his private business in New York. He has been head of the emergency council since last December.

Alverson said it was "the administration's own fault in a way" that he had asked to be relieved. "My private business," he said, "has been so good in the last few months I've got to get back to work."

Claims were Albert Moore, who asked $450 for injuries and $20 for broken spectacles, and James Moore, who asked $400 for injuries and $75 for auto damage. They are sons of Charles T. Moore, pastor of the Alhambra Friends church.

They collided with an auto driven by A. D. Barnes, county tractor-grader operator, at the intersection of Magnolia and Palm streets, near Anaheim. Barnes suffered serious injuries.

Offer on County Property Rejected

When Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, placed a value of $150 on a county-owned fragment of a lot at Garden Grove, the board of supervisors this morning turned down an offer of $50.

The parcel is a triangular piece left after Ventura boulevard was cut at an angle to Euclid avenue. The offer came from a Bakersfield resident who owns adjoining property.

SUICIDE FOILED

PASADENA, (AP)—Two police officers prevented an attempt by a 39-year-old jobless man to become the seventy-eighth suicide from the Colorado street bridge, they reported today. Frank Kramer was halted by Patrolmen Lloyd Black and Harry Thomas when, they said, he was preparing to leap from the high concrete span over the Arroyo seco.

The Japanese, Commander Yoiyuki Iimiyu and Lieutenant-Commander Okira Jamaki, were not indicted.

Their names, however, were contained in a new indictment returned against Farnsworth, a dismissed naval officer, in which he was charged with conspiring with others to dispose of secret information to the foreign power.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Neda Taka, 22-year-old Japanese-born actress, ran from her home today with a slashed throat and fell dead on the lawn.

Police immediately began a search for Ray Johnson, 39, who was reported to have assaulted the young woman's escort, William Bachand, 21, last night with an ice pick.

Bachand was taken to the Hollywood receiving hospital where he was treated for deep wounds in the arms and back.

Child Actress Spurns Mother

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Embraces or pictures with her mother were banned by Edith Fellows, 13-year-old film actress, as she came to court today with her grandmother for trial of her custody suit.

Mrs. Harriet G. Fellows is suing Edith's grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Fellows, claiming she did not know of the child's whereabouts for 10 years and she was divorced by the child's father, Willis S. Fellows, without her knowledge.

AVIATRIX COMING

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Peggie Salaman, famous English aviatrix, is on the high seas bound for the United States and the Chatterton cross-country derby, feature of the 1936 national air races, announced Managing Director Cliff Henderson today.

OVERDUE TAXES BEING PAID

A lot of overdue taxes are going to be cleaned up this month, County Auditor W. T. Lambert predicted today.

Last week Lambert sent out postcards calling attention to a state moratorium which allows back taxes to be paid this month for just the amount of the tax, without interest or penalties. This week replies are coming in at the rate of 50 per day, besides a number who apply in person at Lambert's office.

Persons who have been clearing up back taxes on the 10-year payment plan may have the interest already paid applied to tax payments if the amount is cleared up during August.

HITLER NAMES AMBASSADOR

BERLIN, (AP)—Joachim von Ribbentrop, Chancellor Adolf Hitler's personal emissary on most important diplomatic missions, today was appointed German ambassador to London. Von Ribbentrop, appointed ambassador to Great Britain today, considered the world's prize diplomatic post, is a former champagne salesman.

As ambassador-at-large Von Ribbentrop had much to do during negotiations for cementing of relations between the Reich and Great Britain.

Spy Indictment Names Japanese

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The District of Columbia grand jury today named two former assistant Japanese naval attaches as agents who allegedly conspired with John S. Farnsworth to deliver American defense secrets to Japan.

The Japanese, Commander Yoiyuki Iimiyu and Lieutenant-Commander Okira Jamaki, were not indicted.

Their names, however, were contained in a new indictment returned against Farnsworth, a dismissed naval officer, in which he was charged with conspiring with others to dispose of secret information to the foreign power.

DEAD SISTER AVENGED

DALLAS, Ga. (AP)—Henry P. Howe, middle-aged Atlantan facing trial on a charge of wife murder, was shot to death before the eyes of an official escort near the Paulding county court house today. Two of his brothers-in-law surrendered.

Handcuffed, Howe ran until he fell with three pistol bullets in his back.

Sheriff Frank Couch said the prisoners were Worth and Pinson Brown, married farmers, whose younger sister, Mrs. Hattie Brown Howe, was found dead in the woods near Dallas last April 26.

The sheriff quoted the brothers as saying: "This thing has been pressing on our minds until we couldn't stand it."

RAID SHOW IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Twelve players and the business manager of "Hollywood Goes Minsky," transplanted New York burlesque show, were arrested by police raiders early today on suspicion of presenting an indecent performance.

"The show is pinched," went up the cry from a cast of 30 as 10 officers and a policeman filed backstage after last night's program and announced all would be detained.

After questioning, however, the raiders sorted out nine comedians, dancers, three male comedians and Business Manager Sam Hertzog for arrest.

Carted to Lincoln Heights jail in five police radio cars, the 13 were booked and fingerprinted as bondsmen awaited an opportunity to free them.

"They can't close this show," said Edward Weinstock, manager of the Hollywood Playhouse. "We've been running for two weeks and no one has complained there might be anything wrong with it. We had no warning."

ARREST SUSPECT

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Lionel de Courcy, 25, and James de Courcy, 30, were held today on suspicion of robbing postoffices in Murphysboro, Ill., in 1934, and Superior, Ariz., in 1932.

BIDS OPENED ON COUNTY INSURANCE

G. H. Sattler, Fullerton insurance agent, will open bids this morning when the board of supervisors opened bids for public liability and property damage insurance on county-owned cars for the coming year. A contract was to be awarded this afternoon.

Sattler, for the Western Insurance company, asked $2473.05. E. D. Holmes, jr., of Santa Ana, bid $2617.24 through the Pacific Indemnity company, and General Insurance company of America bid $3566.50 for Ralph J. Mitchell of Santa Ana and M. E. Beebe of Anaheim.

Policies give $50,000 and $100,000 public liability coverage on county-owned autos or cars driven by county employees, and $5000 property damage coverage.

Delay Foreclosure On Street Bonds At Dana Point

An action to foreclose street improvement bonds on 28 lots at Dana Point was delayed today when the Title Insurance & Trust company, nominal owner of the lots, obtained a continuance until Sept. 21 in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

B. D. Hannigan, attorney representing the insurance and trust company, insisted on the continuance when attorneys for E. Perry Churchill, holder of the notes, was authorized to amend his foreclosure complaint to refer to interest coupons which were not mentioned in the original complaint. The case was to have been tried today.

Hannigan said he would take advantage of all technical means of delaying in order to give property owners a chance to redeem their property.

Posse Greeted By Gunfire

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP)—Race feeling ran high today after a gun fight in which four white men were wounded while hunting a Negro accused of trying to kidnap a white baby from its crib.

Shotgun fire met a small body of searchers at a Negro settlement about five miles from here when it approached a dwelling last night.

A posse of some 200 men continued the hunt today for the man whose asserted abduction attempt was said to have been frustrated by the mother of the child.

Three Alarm Clocks Awakened Forest Guards Last Year

It took three alarm clocks to awaken forest guards in the Cleveland national forest last year, and an electric clock to keep track of the daylight hours.

So indicated Guerdon Ellis, forest supervisor, in his report to the board of supervisors on use of $4498.80 in county funds furnished for forestry work. Included in $297.56 in equipment purchases were three alarm clocks. Other items were stoves and typewriters.

Salaries accounted for $3295.75; travelling expenses for $187.61; telephone for $310.11; and protective improvements for $197.77.

A frank answer to these frank questions, Mr. Sheppard, will help clear up the conflict between your record and your Public Statements and Platform.

Yours very truly, N. E. WEST

Democratic Candidate for Congress.

2 Reasons Why I'm going EAST via S.P.

...I'll See More

Southern Pacific hasn't just one route East, it has four—all different and all scenic and interesting. I'll go East on one S. P. route and come back another. That way, I'll see new places, and I'll see twice as much. I'm going to visit Carlsbad Caverns on the way to Chicago, but I'm still undecided whether to return by New Orleans, San Francisco or Portland, all on main Southern Pacific routes.

...I'll be Comfortable

Every Southern Pacific train East is completely air-conditioned. And though the fast limiteds have everything you could wish for in the way of comfort and convenience, I won't have to pay extra fare. The meals are marvelous, and most reasonably priced. What I like most of all is the cheerful, friendly attitude of the S. P. train employees, who make you feel so much at home and are always thinking of little ways to make you more comfortable.

BOARD OKES CITY SCHOOL BUDGETS

Tax Rate on 3 Systems Here Is Fixed at $1.11 Per $100

Calling for a tax rate of $1.11 per $100 of assessed valuation, the budgets of Santa Ana's three school systems were adopted last night by the board of education. There were no protests last week when the board held a public hearing on the $850,930 budget. Of this amount $148,375 is for junior college, requiring an 18-cent tax rate; $387,533 is for high school with a rate of 56 cents, and $315,022 is for elementary schools, with a rate of 37 cents. Because assessed valuations are a quarter million dollars higher, school tax rates remain the same as those of last year, but are expected to raise $38,153 more than last year's total of $812,777. Tentative valuations of the elementary districts this year is $25,760,170 as compared with $25,513,235 last year. High school and junior college district valuations are placed at $27,557,205 this year as compared with $27,113,600 last year.

MISSING GEMS IN MAIL BOX

MARYSVILLE, (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Fry's diamonds, missing since last fall, turned up in a mail box at her home today, she reported to police. The diamonds, valued by Mrs. Fry at from $2000 to $3000, were found by her in a hall mail box when she returned from a short vacation trip. She told Sheriff C. J. McCoy she believed the person who took them was driven by a guilty conscience to return them. They were wrapped in a newspaper.

The Port of Missing Men

Europe Sitting Fearfully on Tinder Box of War

By JOHN EVANS
Associated Press Foreign Chief

NEW YORK, (AP)—Fascist banners over more than half of Spain, riotous in civil war, proclaim anew the dangers of a coming war. Fascism and its bitter struggle with liberalism or the "left," whatever labels they bear, sweep alight the torch in the world's powderhouse.

There is a war of a virtual state of war on three continents—Europe, Asia and Africa. There are more sore spots than in 1914 and far more prophecies of an approaching conflict.

Mussolini, Stalin, sensing the dangers, warned the world also of war's unrevealed terrors when he told German Nazi aviators in Berlin that aerial warfare has "stripped the armor from every nation in war."

Mussolini and Stalin, chiefs of Fascist and Communist states, are only two of many statesmen who talk of war. In every country, leaders and their peoples say they "don't want war" but the great majority see it coming. Clashes over territory furnish reasons enough to them for their fears but daily there grows ominously the age-old clash between the "right" and the "left."

Fascism is the nucleus of the "right," in Spain. Fascism there groups Monarchists, advocates of a strong church and groups of property owners, economic descendants of the old feudal lords. The liberals are the "left." They include Communists, Socialists,

Freethinkers opposed to church power and the "Humanitarian" groups that called for rule by the people, and comfort and security for them.

These lines, ever more sharply drawn, between Fascists and Liberals, whatever labels they bear, increase the tension of a world in turmoil. Statesmen's warnings and international conferences point out dangers that may lead to war in: Dangers Listed
Italy's effort to revive the old Roman empire.
Japan's spread into China and Mongolia.
Soviet Russia's fear of Japan and Germany.
France's belief that Germany intends a war of conquest.
Austria's belief that Hitler seeks control of southwestern Europe.
The Little Entente's (Rumania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia) declaration that German seizure of Austria means war.
Great Britain's conviction she must arm to protect her empire.
German Nazi control of the Free City of Danzig, capital of the Polish corridor which divides Germany into two parts.
Military experts credit Russia with 1,000,000 soldiers each. They calculate Europe has a standing army of more than 5,000,000 and 8,000,000 more available in 48 hours.
The world finally put 74,000,000 men under arms during the great war. Death took one of them every 15 seconds.

MENTON 'PANS' SENTINEL WITH COURT PLAN BROOM JAILED
Creation of a separate state court of criminal appeals would add $100,000 or more to the cost of government without materially speeding up the handling of cases, in the opinion of District Attorney W. F. Menton.

He said the state bar association, the judicial council, and other agencies are opposed to an initiative measure on the November ballot which calls for creation of such a court. District attorneys at their convention discussed the measure, and although they did not take formal action, it was the consensus that the court would not serve a useful purpose, said Menton.

He declared that if all criminal appeals were shifted to the one court, its calendar would become as crowded as those of the regular appellate and supreme courts.

Republicans Open State Campaign
SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Republicans open their presidential campaign in California tomorrow with the arrival in Sacramento of John Hamilton, national Republican chairman.

Marshal Hale, general chairman of arrangements for Hamilton's California tour, said a group of Sacramento Republican leaders will fly to Reno tomorrow to greet the party leader and escort him to the state capital. When he arrives at the Sacramento airport Hamilton will be met by another group of Republican leaders, which will travel from San Francisco to accompany him on his visit to the bay area.

ACCUSE WPA WORKER
SAN DIEGO, (AP)—Vincent Caporale, 23-year-old WPA worker, faced questioning today on a morals charge involving one and possibly two young girls. Neighbors of an 8-year-old girl allegedly attacked yesterday threatened mob action until officers hurried Caporale to jail.

STUDENTS ASK J.C. JANITOR BE KEPT

Petitions asking that the board of education find work for C. W. Collins, 71-year-old junior college janitor, were presented to the board last night by Walter Bandick, junior college student. Collins was one of three janitors dismissed July 1 under a new board policy of hiring no men more than 70 years of age.

Approximately 100 signatures included names of students and business men. Bandick said students understood Collins was seriously in need of work. George Newcom, city school business manager, said he mailed a notice to Collins after the board's action, but that Collins was on a vacation trip and did not learn of his dismissal for two weeks or more.

Board members indicated they would continue their 70-year retirement policy.

Press Search for Actress' Mother

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Helen Chandler, American actress now playing in England, asked police today to "spare no expense" in the search for her invalid mother, Mrs. Frances Chandler, 48, missing for six weeks.

"Please press search, if necessary I will return to aid," a cablegram from Miss Chandler read. Mrs. Chandler, under a nurse's care, disappeared from her Hollywood home June 25 after withdrawing $100 from a bank account.

POLICE REPORTS

A motorcycle, left broken down at a service station at 1502 South Main street Sunday, was taken by police. The owner was sought. License number is 94-16. Battered and cut from a pool hall fight last night, Louis Ford, 61, was given first aid treatment at the county hospital and taken to his home, 1214 West Sixth street.

Bottles and crowds on the sidewalk annoy neighbors, Mrs. Etta Paul, 214 North Ross street, reported to police. She said dances at a nearby hall caused considerable noise on Saturday nights. Officers said they would watch for further disturbances.

Leslie P. Blackwell, six-foot, six-inch negro, was jailed on vagrancy charges yesterday after he assertedly annoyed residents of West Eighth street.

Theft of a tricycle from his home was reported by W. H. Britt, 201 West Seventeenth street. Bill Barnett, 406 West Sixth street, reported burglars had taken a white coat valued at $11 from his home Saturday or Sunday.

City court traffic fines yesterday: Mack Chavez, drunk driving, $150; Alex Angelo, speeding, $6; Homer Albert Winters, speeding, $6; Emmet L. Daugherty, speeding, $13; Joe Torres, speeding, $6; Albert F. Bicker, speeding, $6; Fred Garland, speeding, $7; Ronald A. Ritchie, speeding, $8; Lena Jones, speeding, $6; William Balarda, parking, $1; LeRoy Barnes, parking, $1; Edwin J. Core, parking, $1.

Picture of Pio Pico, Last Mexican Governor, in Bowers Museum

(Men are remembered after their death for their unselfish service to their fellow men. Robert Gardner of Orange has written a series of articles about pioneers of this section, which The Journal is publishing in order to preserve the memory and deeds of outstanding characters. Today's sketch tells about Pio Pico.—Editor.)

"The most influential man of his day and the most eminent citizen of Los Angeles."

He was the man who expressed what everyone knew. He demanded secularization of the missions, because the Indians were oppressed and were being treated unjustly. It would be poetic justice to divide the tens of thousands of acres between worthy subjects. He shouted freedom for the Indians.

He was popular among his fellow Californians. Even today he is popular for the same reasons: (1) He was always agitating moving the capital of the state to Los Angeles. He believed in Southern California and worked for Southern California. (2) He was the last Mexican governor. He remained steadfast to his governorship and used his authority for the benefit of his people. (3) He had an active mind. (4) He lived to an old age, witnessing the passing of Mexican domination and the coming of the United States.

Pio Pico could not stop the hated "Gringo." After he became governor in May, 1845, he tried, but failed, to stop the American occupation. When he was forced to flee the capital he went into hiding in this vicinity. Perhaps it was at Santa Margarita rancho, owned by his brother-in-law, Juan Forrester, or at Teodosio Yorba's where he hid. Historians agree that he fled to this district. It was he that sold the San Juan Capistrano mission to Juan Forrester for the sum of $700. The Catholic church had never been given Spanish grants or Mexican grants to the missions. Of course the church did not like such action and Pio ran into some trouble with the padres. Later the missions were returned to the Catholic church by the American government.

There is a picture of him hanging in the Bowers museum. Study that picture, because it has personality and character in it. The last Mexican governor was a man worthy of acclaim.

FARM INDUSTRY ONE SCHOOL JOB SURVEY BEGUN STILL IS OPEN

Surveys of various California farm industries have been launched with the purpose of adapting the national agricultural conservation program still more closely to the state's particular needs, according to word just received by the farm advisor's office from the state agricultural conservation committee.

The surveys, which are to be concluded by August 31, cover sugar beets, rice, fruit enterprises, and irrigated truck and field crop farms. The material gathered will be used by the state technical advisory committee functioning in connection with the agricultural conservation program. This committee consists of Harry R. Wellman, chairman, Warren Schoonover, B. A. Madison and R. L. Adams. All those named are specialists of the University of California, college of agriculture.

Growers are being interviewed by specialists in each crop. Growers who by experience and observation have a well-grounded knowledge of their industry are contributing information and suggestions as to how the farms are managed, what their problems are, and what steps are being taken by growers to overcome these problems and retain soil fertility.

"California agriculture has special problems," said Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg today. "These surveys will bring out clearly the nature of such problems, and open the way for more precise solutions. The 49,000 California farmers who have filed work sheets for participation in the soil conservation program realize that they are working toward a 1937 program still better adapted to California agriculture than the 1936 program, and 770 farmers have signed applications in Orange county."

PRIZEFIGHTER SUE
LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Robert (Bep) Van Klaveren, Dutch prizefighter, was accused of beating, kicking and knocking down Marguerite Klaveren in her divorce suit on file today.

SHIPMENTS INCREASE
LOS ANGELES, (AP)—California shipped 14,293 barrels of oil by tanker daily during July, the oil producers agency reported. The average was 2445 barrels above July, 1935.

ter adapted to California agriculture than the 1936 program, and 770 farmers have signed applications in Orange county."

THREE STATE PRIMARIES ON TODAY

By the Associated Press
Presidential politics went into temporary eclipse today as state primaries—in which two prominent senators sought renomination attracted attention.

Townsendism was an issue in Arkansas as citizens there voted their choice from United States senator down to constable. Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader of the senate, seeking a fifth term, was opposed by Cleveland Holland, Fort Smith attorney, who bears the endorsement of the state Townsend plan convention, and J. Rosser Venable, Little Rock attorney who criticized Robinson's legislative record.

Borah Up Again
The $200-a-month old age pension plan also featured the primary campaign in Idaho, where Sen. William Borah fought for the Republican nomination toward a sixth consecutive term. His opponent was Byron Defenbach, former state treasurer who is supported by Townsendites.

C. Den Ross, former cowboy and three times Idaho's governor, contested for the Democratic senatorial nomination with U. S. Attorney John Carver.

Presidential Campaign
Florida had a special primary today to settle a contest between former Gov. Doyle E. Carlton and former Judge C. O. Andrews for the Democratic nomination to succeed the late Sen. Park Trammell.

While President Roosevelt and Governor Landon prepared for coming speeches, their supporters were active in the field.

After a Washington meeting in which they pledged themselves yesterday to strive for re-election of Mr. Roosevelt as a basis for "establishment of a liberal party" in 1940, state leaders of the pro-New Deal Labor's Nonpartisan league scattered to their homes today to intensify campaign work.

HOW MANY folks in Fullerton remember Mark Haas? Mark at one time was city editor of the old Tribune under Edgar Johnson. His daily feature, "All's Letters to the Folks Back Home" will be recalled. Poetry, remember?

Anyway, Verner Beck, San Juan Capistrano publisher, was talking about Mark the other day. The former editor of the Fullerton Tribune to Detroit, where he's associated with the American Boy magazine. And recently the poor guy won two automobiles in contests, and is now worrying about getting rid of one.

From material at hand, today is going to be "Verner Beck Day" in this department. Mostly because he's been moaning about the bathing suit situation at Laguna longer than anyone else. His latest "attack" on the bare facts as seen in the artist colony takes the form of poetry. Thusly:

Ode to Laguna
Laguna, Oh, Laguna,
With your bony ribs and shanks,
With your over-lapping stomachs
And your flapping, flapping flanks—
Laguna, Oh, Laguna,
With your skinned vertebrae
With your waddling, wobbling
bathers
Jiggling, jaggling on their way—
Laguna, Oh, Laguna,
Would you prove to us, for-
sooth,
That you have become the village.
The town of Naked Truth?

Editor Beck tops off the week's accumulation of news in his Coastline Dispatch with a thrilling tale of a gory battle on the boulevard. He dresses up a family fracas in the following masterful style under the heading "Filial battle of century ends in draw." Here, she is. The battle is over (maybe) yet the shiners must linger on.

'Twas the battle of the century, and a beautiful illustration of domestic fidelity and love. Were the combatants known, the gory details would be more interesting, and the tale would cause many a Los Angeles reporter to lather at the mouth, and bankrupt the nation's supply of adjectives.

Time of fight—the other evening. Place of scrap—middle of Coast highway, near The Palisades. Principals—man and wife, identity unknown, and what difference would it make, anyway? Cause—Too much liquor in two stomachs.

Referee—None. Spectators—a couple hundred motorists, all dead-heads.

ROUND ONE—Wife swings a wicked verbal comeback right between the eyes while each fighter sits stilling in his and her respective corner of automobile seat. Car comes to a halt on highway and husband replies with a sock to the jaw. Wife comes back with a one-two to eye and nose. Husband lands round-house left to eye. Had wife been standing her knees would have buckled. Sitting as she was there was nothing to buckle, so force of the blow untied both shoes. Displaying remarkable stamina from her training period on cocktails and cigars, wife hangs on until highway scrap is playing merry-go-round. Sinks both mitts in husband's hair and lets him have it with both feet and teeth. End of round one, wife still hanging on with mitts clutched.

ROUND TWO—Quarters too small for efficient fighting, so husband opens his door rolls out. Wife does same on her side of car. Added thrill provided to fight as automobiles whizz by on both sides of scrappers who choose middle of highway for continuation of battle. A couple haymakers heard in Yuma, Ariz., smack against wife's fighting face. Swinging with both fists, wife bores in landing blows without much force. She is rocked to her heels by a clout to the jaw. Following up his advantage husband lands a couple more, and wife begins to buckle all over. She starts to fall. She looks around for somebody to toss in the towel. Everybody is fresh out of towels. End of round two.

ROUND THREE—Husband resorts to ransacking. Clamping on a hammerlock, half-Nelson and flying mare, husband ties wife in a knot, drags her toward railroad track as freight train approaches. Tosses wife to rails and watches as train nears, visioning early collection of life insurance on party of second part. Wife not clear out. Views approach of freight train and drags herself from track, and train rolls by. Husband bites fingernails in disgust. Train passes, and husband, fighting spirit still high, resumes battle on railroad track.

ROUND FOUR—Cop arrives. Declares scrap a draw. Talks both scrappers away for overnight rest and attention. Names of fighters not given to press.

200 ENTRIES ASSURED FOR NEWPORT LIGHT TOURNAMENT

PARADE AND FIREWORKS SLATED

Two U. S. Cruisers Will Take Part in Annual Event at Port

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—More than 200 boat owners have signified their intention of entering the annual Tournament of Lights, slated for 7:30 p. m. next Saturday on the harbor here, committee leaders announced here today. Entries are expected from Santa Ana, Fullerton, Huntington Beach, Pasadena, Long Beach, Glendale, Santa Monica, Anaheim, Laguna Beach, Pomona, Riverside, Redlands, Costa Mesa, Lions club and Corona Del Mar. Many yachting organizations, including the Newport Harbor Yacht club, Balboa Yacht club, Long Beach, San Diego and Alamitos Bay Yacht clubs are expected to participate.

No Advertising
Entries in the mile-long water parade will be confined to a strictly nautical theme this year, committee members have decided. Nothing of an advertising, political or business nature will be allowed, they have ruled, in planning the event.

Included in the evening's program are costly displays of fireworks. Two battle cruisers from the United States fleet, stationed at San Diego, will take part in the celebration, it has been announced.

Thrills Assured
Plans to make this year's event the most elaborate and thrilling of any in past years are being completed here, with boat owners working to produce brilliant lighting effects on their craft. All types of boats, from huge yachts to tiny kayaks, will be entered in the parade.

Judges for the event are Shelby Coon, Sidney Davidson, Frank W. Cuprien, noted Laguna artist, Claude George Putnam and Harry Williamson, mayor of Newport Beach. Many beautiful prizes, said to surpass any ever offered for the following masterful style under the heading "Filial battle of century ends in draw." Here, she is. The battle is over (maybe) yet the shiners must linger on.

Rush Preparations for Newport Lights Fete

Petronella Rollins, Ruth Bostwick and Ruth Henthorne are shown here decorating a float which will take part in the famous Tournament of Lights, slated for Saturday evening on Orange county's harbor at Newport-Balboa. At the right is shown one of the many attractively decorated cruisers which will take part in the night parade.

Beach Rats Plan Annual H. B. Sports Program

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Members of the Beach Rats, organization of youngsters who spend all their waking hours on the local sands, are going to celebrate Friday, planning their annual picnic and "Hobo Day." Sports, games, races, swimming and diving events, costume contests and other events are planned. Judging of costumes will open the affair at 9:30 a. m., because, leaders explained, after the games costumes probably won't be recognizable.

A hot dog feed is slated at 12:15 p. m., and prizes will be awarded to participants able to receive them at 3 p. m. Miss Eisebel Hurd, playground supervisor, and Bud Higgins, life-guard captain, are in charge.

ORANGE PLUNGE OPENING SET

ORANGE.—Tentative plans to open the Orange municipal swimming pool have been announced by A. C. Boice, who said yesterday that although metal lath for finishing the bath house has not arrived, the plunge may be opened to the public tomorrow.

Mayor Boice stated that due to the unfinished condition of the bath house, no special ceremony will be held. Persons who wish to use the pool must come to the park in bathing suits.

Ben Dierker, park superintendent, will be in charge of the plunge, and Frank Richardson has been hired as lifeguard. The bath will be on duty from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Approach to the plunge may be made by way of South Glassell street or River avenue. Cars cannot be parked around the plunge, and must be left along the creek bank at the end of each of the streets, or parked along Glassell street near the stone wall bordering the park.

His address, packed with interesting facts and spiced with intimate details of "the village" was well received by the insurance men, members of the W. M. Hammond agency, S. Roy Green, of Los Angeles, presided at the meeting, which was attended by more than 60 members, drawn from Los Angeles, Santa Ana, San Bernardino, San Diego, Long Beach and Hollywood.

Arrangements for the meeting were in charge of Capt. George A. Portus, secretary-manager of the local chamber of commerce.

Hit-Run Driver Hurts Mesa Man
COSTA MESA.—Knocked to the pavement by a speeding hit-and-run driver while returning home from his place of business late Friday night, A. S. Handy, 521 Balboa street, proprietor of the Mesa Tavern, received severe bruises and lacerations about the back and forearms.

The accident occurred near the intersection of Balboa street and Harbor boulevard. Immediately after striking Handy, the driver of the car switched off all lights, making it impossible to obtain the license number.

Present were Craig Snasdel, Frank Eastwood, Clifford, Merrill and Melba Crane, Dorothy Pullen, Lemuel Hay, Raymond Cook, Richard and Marvin Penhall, Bill Rose, Katherine Pollard, Garden Grove, and Barbara and Dee Campbell.

VISITS IN COSTA MESA
COSTA MESA.—Mrs. Clara McEvers of Tully, N. Y., is spending three weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker on East Eighteenth street.

Mrs. McEvers arrived Tuesday evening, having spent 21 days en route through the Panama canal.

PURCHASES HOME
COSTA MESA.—The property formerly occupied by Edward Clary at 118 East Eighteenth street, has been sold by the owner, S. Burkholder, to Joseph T. Humphrey, Santa Ana. Humphrey will remodel the dwelling and make his home here.

ATTEND MEETING
WESTMINSTER.—Fire Chief O. C. Hare and Mrs. Hare and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Burns attended a meeting of the Orange County Volunteer Firemen's association in Brea last evening.

MIDWAY CITY FIREMEN TO STAGE BENEFIT PARTY

MIDWAY CITY.—Members of the local firemen's association are planning an elaborate garden party as a benefit for the organization, to be held in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Houlihan, at the corner of Roosevelt and Van Buuren streets next Thursday evening.

Tables will be arranged for bridge, monopoly and 500, while croquet and ping pong will be played in the adjoining yard of Mrs. Anne Van Steenberg. Hot sandwiches and coffee will be served by the firemen.

Metropolitan Water To Be Joint Meeting Topic

LAGUNA BEACH.—Preliminary plans for making the greater portion of the south part of Orange county, and particularly the coast section, a part of the Metropolitan Water District will be discussed at a joint dinner meeting of the Orange County Coast association and the associated chambers of commerce, to be held here Tuesday evening, Aug. 18, at Hotel Laguna, it was announced today.

Special invitations have been extended to members of the county board of supervisors as well as executives of various water district organizations and others identified with the problem of water supply.

INSURANCE MEN DRILLING TO BE HEAR CUPRIEN C. OF C. TOPIC

LAGUNA BEACH.—Instead of using his customary medium of color, Frank W. Cuprien, dean of the art colony, yesterday noon before a large group of insurance men at Bird's cafe, painted a picture of the history and development of Laguna.

His address, packed with interesting facts and spiced with intimate details of "the village" was well received by the insurance men, members of the W. M. Hammond agency, S. BULKHEAD IS SOUGHT AT BALBOA

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Reconsideration of a proposed project in which a bulkhead fronting 18 lots on the Balboa peninsula would be constructed for protection against tides, was asked at a meeting of the city council here last night by L. W. Briggs and A. B. Rouselle.

Two previous attempts have been made to build the bulkhead, as considerable property has been washed away in the past. An assessment district was formed and plans for the project carried out to sale of bonds under the 1911 act, but no buyers were found.

Now the council may attempt to refinance the project under the 1915 bond act, and proceed with the bulkhead operations, it was decided. Cost of the work is estimated as about $18,000.

The council also ordered filling of public beach and construction of a groin at the end on "N" street. The board also ordered the city water department to start laying a 20-inch water main over the new state highway intersection after rejecting one bid of $4500 for the work as too high.

ASK CITY AID FOR CHAMBER

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—A proposal to establish the chamber of commerce as the official city advertising bureau, with the city to pay around $2000 for the service, in rent, salaries and other items, was presented at a city council meeting here last night. The board took the matter under advisement and will take action later, it was decided.

The board will also consider proposed changes in the building code, as requested in a plan for a new $12,000 business building at Olive and Main streets. A contract for paving and improvement of Frankfort street was granted the Anco Construction company. The work will cost $8246.

Editors and Their Opinions
A digest of ideas from Orange county newspapers is being of interest to readers of The Journal.

FOR "THREE LONG YEARS" (Placentia Courier)

For "Three Long Years" residents of the Third Supervisorial district of Orange county, largest in point of registration and assessed valuation, have waited for their representative on the Board to obtain for this section of the county some of the things which they feel they are entitled to have. Many recall the pre-election protest of the present Supervisor, Le Roy Lyon, and are now checking to see how many of them have been carried out.

Supervisor Lyon was elected on the usual platform of lower taxes and a business administration. He promised that if a change was made he would secure for the north end of the county many of the items to which it was entitled. For three years residents have waited, and are still waiting.

The answer has been complete indifference to the wishes of taxpayers of his district, and supine support of the program arranged by those who run Orange county affairs at Santa Ana. When higher tax rates are being set the Third district representative is in Washington trying to wheedle thirteen million out of Uncle Sam, for a series of dams the people do not want as shown by several elections.

Take the matter of highways. The only new roads built in the Third district and which might be possibly claimed by Supervisor Lyon, are Manchester highway and Imperial Highway. Both are projects of the Federal government known as farm to market roads.

Phil Stanton, member of the State Highway Commission, has pushed Manchester Highway and will remain a member of the Commission until it is completed through Anaheim.

Supervisor John Quinn, when a member of the Los Angeles Board of Supervisors, laid out and pushed through Imperial highway. Thus far in Orange county it consists of a short section in the vicinity of La Habra, west to connect with the Los Angeles section near the state hospital at Norwalk. The rest of the route, from La Habra through Yorba Linda to Santa Ana river, remains as promises.

Yorba Linda has been "building" Imperial highway for years. Supervisor Lyon "laid aside" the sum of $106,000 for an overhead crossing of the Pacific Electric at Valencia avenue, for years. Recently the sum dropped to $6000 for an ordinary grade crossing.

Placentia has not had any road improvement worth talking about, in fact Supervisor Lyon abetted the state highways program which made the city the only one in Orange county which does not have a state highway.

The Third district Supervisor has been active in aiding relief projects, new buildings for the County Hospital, many weed chopping programs and boon dogging. Many are of the opinion that "three long years" is enough for the present supervisor to represent the Third district on this important board.

Cheap Pole, Reel, Aid Angler in Landing Swordfish

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Henry Wright, Newport fisherman, went out to sea in his small boat, the Vampire, yesterday. He carried a cheap pole, reel and line.

But he came back with the largest marlin swordfish landed this season. The monster, weighing 262 pounds, was captured after a hard battle off Dana Point.

Another seaker after swordfish yesterday was Warner Baxter, motion picture star, but he was unable to make a catch. However, when he landed after his expedition, he was mobbed by movie fans, and obligingly posed for pictures, and then signed numerous autographs before escaping.

MIDWAY BUFFET CLUB MEETS

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore were hosts to members of the Buffet Supper club at their home on South Jackson street Saturday night. Bridge was played during the evening, following the supper hour.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kingsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Gale Dunstan, Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Birdwell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Basse and Mrs. J. L. Esser. Guests invited to substitute for absent members were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitte and Irving Jungfahnn. Prizes for high score were awarded Mrs. Dunstan, Mrs. Basse and Mrs. Birdwell, Irving Jungfahnn, Harry Kingsbury and Wheeler Birdwell.

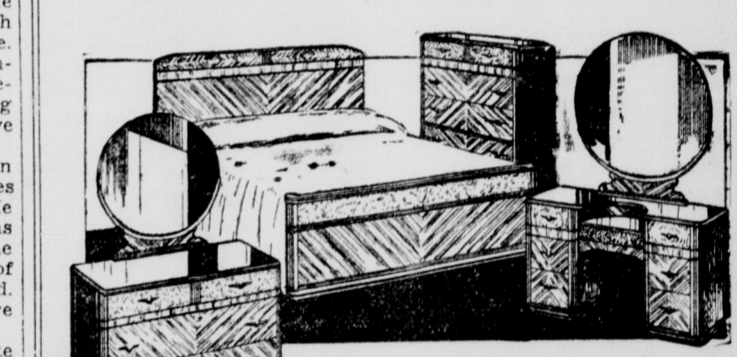

Mesa Campfire Girls on Trip

COSTA MESA.—Eight Campfire girls left this week for their encampment near Seven Oaks. Those in the party were Diana Margwarth, Joanne Wilcox, Norma Tripp, Evelyn Rae, Eleanor Schmieke, Betty Dodge, Wilda Shirley and Patricia Butler.

Mrs. Gunning Butler and Everett Rae donated the use of their autos and time to take the girls to camp.

RETURNS FROM TRIP
G. RDEN GROVE.—Miss Ruby Aabel is expected home this week from a three-week vacation spent with relatives in San Francisco and vicinity. She was accompanied north by Miss Ruby Miller, who continued to Chicago, where she may remain indefinitely.

'PANTS RACKET' WORKED HERE

Clothing and department store employees today didn't act very enthusiastic about making refunds on trousers.

With a clever "pants racket" operator reported in the vicinity, they couldn't be sure they weren't just paying for their own stock, and they were watching closely for a heavy-set woman.

J. S. Hill, 301 West Fourth street, reported to police a strange woman had attempted to collect a refund on two occasions on a pair of trousers she said she had bought. They turned out never to have been sold.

She walks into a store carrying several bundles and a piece of wrapping paper. Then she slips a pair of trousers into the paper and asks for a refund, saying her son has a broken leg and is unable to wear them.

Los Angeles police reported the same suspect has been using similar tactics there. She gives her name as "Mrs. F. J. Holmes."

TONIGHT'S PROGRAMS

Ethel Barrymore, often referred to as the first lady of the stage, will be a guest on Ben Bernie's program at 5 p. m. over KFI, and announces she will do some Shakespeare. But the catch is that Bernie is to take part in the drama, which indicates it won't be too heavy.

Miss Barrymore also is to play a piano solo.

With Lanny Ross' return from Europe Aug. 20, the 1937 edition of Showboat will be launched with one of the largest casts in the radio field. Al Goodman will replace Gus Haenschen as orchestra leader, and Captain Henry, Mary Lou, and the Westerners are to be replaced.

'KEEP SMILING' HOUR TONIGHT

"Diseases are practically all symptoms of abnormal functions," it was said in connection with this evening's "Keep Smiling" broadcast to be made from KVOE at 6 o'clock. Some to be considered, together with their causes and methods of removal, are appendicitis, asthma, anemia, Bright's disease, children's diseases, colds, diabetes, gastralgia, gastritis and gall stones.

The music of the Moana Serenaders, playing and singing "Song of the Islands," will be included. The Sons of the Pioneers will have the musical "blues" tonight at 6:45 on KVOE when they will sing the "Gambler's Blues," also known as "St. James Infirmary," "Birmingham Jail," and "The Last Round-Up." The fiddle number "Fine Time at Our House" will be played by Hugh Farr of the "Flying Fiddle."

The Sons of the Pioneers are scheduled on KVOE Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at the same hour.

Four of the biggest favorites in cowboy and old-time tunes will be included in tomorrow morning's "Round-Up" program at 11:15 on KVOE by Duke Martin and his Rangers. The boys have scheduled the songs "Little Brown Jug," "Cowboy's Dream," "Goodbye, My Lover, Goodbye" and "Tumbling Tumbleweeds."

HUGHES LANDS IN NEW YORK

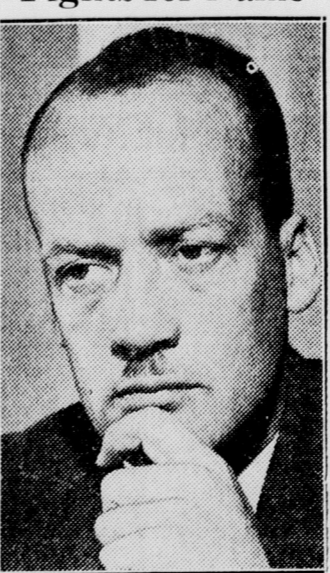

BROOKLYN, (AP)—Howard Hughes landed his "Flying Laboratory" at Floyd Bennett field at 9:20 a. m., Eastern standard time, today, completing a flight from Dayton, O., in less than three and one-half hours.

The millionaire motion picture producer and sportsman encountered rough weather over the Alleghenies as he came East.

Attaches of the field said his time indicated he was conducting a test of the big transport ship which Hughes, holder of a number of air records, has entered in the coming Bendix races.

From time to time there have been reports that Hughes planned

MRS. LONGCOPE LOSES APPEAL

NEW YORK, (AP)—Counsel for Mrs. Dorothea Livermore Longcope, former wife of Wall Street's Jesse Livermore, sr., will probably carry to a higher court her petition for additional financial aid from Livermore.

Alfred M. Schaffer, Mrs. Livermore's attorney, indicated this today after dismissal "without prejudice" of her suit yesterday in domestic relations court.

Livermore said he felt no responsibility for cost of medical care of Jesse Livermore, jr., who was shot by his mother in California last year. He said his former wife and sons were adequately provided for.

FEAR REIGNS IN MADRID AS WAR FLARES HIGH

By JAMES OLDFIELD
Associated Press Foreign Staff
MADRID, (AP)—This once gay capital of Spain still presents a carnival spectacle of bright colors and laughter—but it is a fantastic carnival of fear.

With Communism running rife, thousands of houses fly red flags. Balconies are draped with roughly torn red garments. Windows and doorways are festooned with crimson ribbons as a safeguard against invasion of dreaded bands of Red executioners.

Laughter now is confined to semi-hysterical guffaws of swagging terrorists standing at the corpses of suspected Fascists.

Death stalks streets.

Aristocrats are exposed to constant menace of arrest and summary trial by one of the Red committees functioning day and night with the inevitable climax — if proven guilty of Fascist beliefs — death before a firing squad.

At all hours of the day and night, luxurious cars commanded by squads of Socialist-Anarchist-Syndicalists dash through the streets at breakneck speed.

All automobiles bear a police placard "Autorizado" (authorized to go) pasted on the windshields. An armed chauffeur and militiamen with rifles across the knees man every car.

Crochet Them Both... They're Easy

PATTERN 5670

"Doll up" in this saucy, pill-box hat if you'd have the fashion world at your feet! And how smart the bag, with its new, wider-at-bottom shape! This chic set is wonderfully easy to crochet—just simple stitches, with those raised flowers worked right in. Yarn does beautifully, and the flowers are later outlined with wool or floss with a satin stitch center. Start your Fall wardrobe right. In pattern 5670 you will find complete instructions for making the set shown; an illustration of it and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Santa Ana Journal Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth St. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

COUNTY MEN AT INDIAN RITES

Several Orange county men interested in the rituals of the Indians attended the ceremony of the reincarnation at the Rincon reservation Saturday night.

Among those present were Antonio Yorba, who writes occasionally for The Journal; Herman Strand, who has a fine collection of Indian artifacts; John Winterbourne, authority on anthropology; Robert McPherson of Orange, an authority on history in this locality; and Robert Gardner, Orange poet.

The Indians were pious and reverent during the long ceremony for their dead. Weird chants and wailing and rhythmic Indian dances were a part of the impressive ceremony. Finally the Lord's prayer was repeated, which was not a part of the ceremony until the padres came. The Indians are now neophytes (Christian Indians) but they retain their ancient ritual, which in many ways is better and more awesome than the modern burial ceremonies of the whites.

Such a ceremony is a rare treat to a modern student. Few are held now because the tribe is getting small, and civilization is wiping out the beliefs and customs of the red men.

UTAH'S SAFEST DRIVER FOUND

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—J. A. Burt drove 29 years without an accident or traffic tag.

His feat won him the designation as Utah's safest driver and a trip to New York with expenses paid.

How he did it:
Shunned liquor.
Paid attention to driving.
Observed traffic rules.

Burt, 55, travels the Western states as a salesman of auto supplies.

The title, won on his record of 50,000 miles driven the last 10 years, enrolls Burt in the nationwide safe driver motorcade.

either for rebels or for the government.

Only half of the food shops are open and fears of milk shortage are mounting.

Sandbag barriers bar streets at intervals, but appear miserably inadequate to stem any organized invasion. Each barricade has its guard.

From noon until the cool of evening, cafes and streets are deserted. "Juan Espanol" still takes his 40 winks, war or no war.

At night citizens come out again and move more or less freely along the boulevards. But it is far from the fashion parade of pre-revolution days.

SANTA ANA HAS FLOAT FIRST TIME IN NEWPORT LIGHTS TOURNEY

MILDURA IS OFFERED BY PUTNAM

Committee Plans Novel
Decoration Scheme
On 56-ft. Ketch

The ketch Mildura, owned by Claude G. Putnam of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, will carry Santa Ana's colors into the Newport Harbor Tournament of Lights Aug. 15.

Announcement of the Santa Ana entry was made today by John R. Price, chairman of the Santa Ana committee on arrangements for the entry.

The yacht is a 56-foot, two-masted type, Price said.

Commercials Banned
For the first time, he said, commercial entries have been banned in the tournament, and all entries will compete on an equal basis. No decoration effects will be counted except lighting and beauty of design.

Putnam volunteered the use of his yacht for the Santa Ana entry as a gesture in support of the Corinthian idea. It is the first time this city has had an entry.

Price was not willing to divulge the decoration scheme for the float, but did say that 1500 balloons will be used in blanketing the masts, in a novel fashion. They will be lighted.

The parade will get under way at 7:45 o'clock next Saturday evening. Members of the Santa Ana committee include Price as chairman, Hubert J. Gohres and Mark Harrison.

Dixie Residents To Meet Saturday

Southern oratory and an old-fashioned picnic dinner of fried chicken, biscuits and other southern dishes are on the program for Saturday when former residents of four states gather for a "Dixie" picnic in Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles.

Every one who ever lived in Mississippi, Alabama, Florida or Louisiana is being invited to attend. Each state will open county registers, distribute silk badges and serve coffee.

Democrats Explain What Their Platform Intends to Accomplish For U. S.

The Journal has opened its columns, free of charge, to the Democratic and Republican party organizations of Orange county for the presentation of daily articles through the duration of the presidential campaign. This forum is established, not as offering benefit to the political organizations, but solely as a service to Journal readers in that they may receive full and authoritative information upon the issues of the campaign. Horace C. Head, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, and B. Z. McKinney are in charge of that party's contributions to the column, while Howard Irwin and William O. Hart are contributing the Republicans' articles. Today's offerings follow:

By THE DEMOCRATS
The Democratic platform in striking degree possesses the strength of understanding. Not that it yields or recedes or apologizes. Entirely the contrary. It points forward. It does not rant and strut and swagger, as political declarations are wont to do.

In effect it says, calmly and simply and reservedly: "We meant it, and we will keep on from here."

They Say "Carry On"
"We have" and "we will continue" recur again and again as the theme. The "net" is carry on. That tone appears most significantly in the part which deals with the constitution. No dramatics here. But rather a tone of firm patience.

Dealing in a wide and inclusive way with the nation's problems, such as wages, hours, child labor, working conditions, floods, dust storms, droughts, neutrality, questions of state and federal approach, the platform says in substance:

Met Obstacles
We have tried, we have met obstacles, we will try again to see whether we can do the job without a change in the constitution—but do the job we will, and not confine ourselves to the single phase which has been belatedly recognized by the Republican opposition. To all those who had expected something rabid, the Democratic platform of 1936 will be a decided disappointment. It will re-assure the great mass of reasonable Americans that the Roosevelt administration if given four more years of power will yield not an inch in its purpose to restore prosperity and promote the safety and happiness of the people.

The Republicans failed to submit material for their column today.

Two Santa Ana Supervisor Candidates Seek Votes By Person-to-Person Method

ton's campaign is that he really enjoys it—it gives him a chance to see so many of his friends. While Charles O'Carin, on the other hand, has promulgated a rather novel first plank for his platform—no promises.

Both these Santa Ana men are conducting a person-to-person campaign for supervisor of the first (Santa Ana) district.

O'Carin is unique in another fashion. He has no political backing, that is. "No well-defined political backing," he says, "but plenty of them. And if I have enough friends who want me in office, what more could I ask for, in a political fashion? They're more powerful than any amount of political cliques behind a candidate."

He is running on a platform of honest efficiency and no promises. And Candidate Cranston says he is finding this work more fun than anything he's done for a long time. "I get to meet so many people," he says. "My campaign is just a matter of letting them know I'm in the race."

His platform, too, is one of efficiency and no wasted promises.

SUGAR PLANT EXPLOSION BURNS MAN

W. G. Walker Hurt When Gas Boiler Blows Up Prematurely

Seriously burned about the face and body when a boiler exploded at the Holly Sugar Company refinery, W. G. Walker, 27, Fullerton, was under treatment at the Santa Ana Valley hospital today. Walker, a factory employee, was standing at the end of a large gas boiler Sunday morning when the inside was ignited prematurely. A second brick foundation was blown in the blast, and Walker was injured. He was predicted he would be able to leave the hospital in a few days. Damage to the boiler was still being repaired today, refinery officials said.

SILVER TROPHY TO V. F. W. POST

Streamlined and triumphant, a silver trophy for outstanding public relations work was presented to Ernest Kellogg post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, by L. N. Wisser, commander of the Anaheim post, at the local organization's meeting Friday evening.

Known as the Edward J. Neron traveling trophy, the award was made to the combined Orange and Riverside district at June convention of the veterans' organization.

After remaining a month in Santa Ana, it will be passed on to another post, Commander Glenn Hendrickson said. The trophy, the figure of an athlete mounted on a silver base inscribed with the Cross of Malta, stands almost a foot and a half high.

Edward J. Neron, donor of the award, is a past department commander of the V. F. W. and now serves as assistant director of public works in California.

A class of 15 men was initiated at Friday's meeting, with the South Gate post's degree team officiating. (Visitors were present from Orange, Anaheim and San Gabriel.) Plans were made for a social meeting with members of the auxiliary in K. of P. hall on Friday evening.

El Modena Lincoln Pupils Return to School Thursday

Closing the summer playground program before school opens Thursday, all children at the Lincoln school playground, El Modena, will participate in games and entertainment being arranged for tomorrow afternoon by Miss Bessie Tinkler and Matt Lujan, directors.

The children will exhibit articles made during the summer, and will take part in a ball game, boxing exhibition, checkers and domino tournament and other games.

Mothers of the youngsters are being invited to attend. The directors plan to serve orange juice and wafers before dismissing the group.

Each year the Lincoln school convenes classes a month ahead of other schools in the vicinity, to permit a month's recess from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, when the children customarily work as walnut pickers, Lujan said.

Alf to Vacation In Colorado

TOPEKA, Kan., (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon has decided today to leave tonight for his Estes Park, Colo., summer ranch.

He sent this word to newsmen from his executive mansion where he remained again today to devote his time to work on speeches. Aides reported improvement in a slight cold.

Landon will remain in Estes Park until Aug. 20 when he starts east for three presidential campaign speeches at West Middlesex, Pa., and Chautauque and Buffalo, N. Y.

Widen Search For Marie Wendt

NEW YORK, (AP)—The search for Marie Wendt, 23-year-old Chinese-German girl, became nationwide today, as authorities sought to learn details of one of the largest smuggling rings ever revealed in the United States. She escaped Friday night from a Los Angeles hotel room after detention for questioning on a huge narcotic cache found on board a ship from the Orient.

BOARD BALKS AT FEE FOR ARCHITECT

Eley Seeks to Collect On Plans for School That 'Went Sour'

How much should an architect be paid for plans that "go sour"? That's what the board of education wanted to know last night when Frederick H. Eley, architect, brought up the matter of amounts assertedly due him for past work on Edison school plans. The plans had been abandoned when state authorities ruled foundations unsafe and final cost figures exceeded estimates.

Asks $100 Fee
Eley asked the board to approve a contract for his fees at 9 1/2 per cent of cost on the Edison school auditorium, which is estimated at $11,600, making his fee about $1100.

President George Wells objected that Eley had already been paid $400 toward former auditorium plans on which Eley's fee was to have been not more than $1000. On these plans the state refused to give approval without changes in the foundations, and an original estimate of $11,000 jumped to $21,000, Wells said.

Sought $633 More
Then Eley asked about $633 balance on plans drawn two years ago for further building at Edison school, but abandoned when funds were shifted to Spurgeon school construction. Spurgeon school also exceeded cost estimates, board members said. Greene bill fund officials had previously allowed Eley another $633 on that account.

On motion of Ridley Smith, seconded by Rolla Hays, sr., the board authorized President George Wells and School Business Manager George Newcom to study architects' bills and bring a recommendation to the next meeting.

Fairbanks Return To California

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Douglas Fairbanks and his wife, the former Sylvia Ashley, returned to Southern California by airplane Monday. They left Berlin last Wednesday.

The actor and his wife left Los Angeles several weeks ago on word that Mrs. Fairbanks' four-year-old niece, Loretta, was ill. After spending four days in London, the pair went to Berlin where they attended four days of the Olympic games. They returned to the United States on the Zeppelin Hindenburg.

Board Votes to Repair Auditorium, Build Some New Rooms

Construction plans of Edison school were revised by the Santa Ana board of education last night to substitute repair of the auditorium for two of four classrooms previously authorized.

Changes raised the amount to be spent from $37,450 to $44,273, to be arranged by a supplementary contract with Blystone & Van Tyle, who were successful bidders two weeks ago under the previous plan. Included in the proposed work are two class rooms, teachers' and nurses rooms, rest rooms, and the auditorium.

As the classrooms and other units connect with the auditorium, revising of the plans allows the roof and other portions of the present auditorium to be salvaged. Because a requested transfer of $10,819.15 in the Greene bill funds from the high school to the elementary school has not been completed, the board asked the Greene bill board, which must approve reconstruction contracts, to withhold a portion of the contract until the transfer is made.

Funds for the job include $10,000 in the 1936-37 budget, $26,549.96 in elementary Greene bill fund balances, and $10,819.15 in high school Greene bill balances.

Mrs. J. Bruns Entertains Officers

Using colors and flowers emblematical of the order, Mrs. John E. Bruns, worthy matron of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., entertained her officers, members of the board of trustees and the examining and auditing committee and their trailers at dinner last night in her home on Irvine boulevard.

Quilts of baby zinnias, the gift of Mrs. Don Edwards, centered tables in the dining room, where the Bruns 40 guests were served. Colors, flowers and designs appropriate for the order were carried out in place cards, napkins and in bridge tables.

Auction bridge was played after dinner, with scores prizes being presented to Mrs. Don Edwards, Mrs. John Garthe, Carlyle Dennis and George Shippe.

Mrs. Bruns then presented each of her officers with a gift. The women received individual pieces of Fostoria glassware; the men, smoking accessories. The score awards were bubble bowls and ash trays.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bruns were Messrs. and Mesdames James A. Farley (Mrs. Farley is deputy grand matron for the district), Carlyle Dennis, Courtney Chandler, Glen Lyman, Albert Chast, Don Edwards, Osborne Holmes, Paul Cozad, Claude Ellis, Sam Jernigan, Harvey Dimmitt, T. S. Hunter, George Shippe, W. R. Sylvester, William Dean and Henry Meyer; Mesdames Sue Henry, W. C. McFarren, Nelson Smith, Godfrey Speich, John Garthe, and Miss Hattie Baxler.

LETTERS FROM ABROAD ENJOYED BY QUILL CLUB

Meeting with Mrs. Blanche Brown at 909 South Main street, members of Quill and Pen club dispensed with formalities of their wintertime meetings last night and spent a delightful evening hearing letters read by Mrs. Marshall Harmsie from her son, Duncan, who is traveling abroad this summer. One letter was from Germany and the other from Sweden, both describing in interesting manner the customs and night of visitors noted in those countries.

Miss Verna Wells, vice president, presided over the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Marah Adams. Others present were the Mesdames Eleanor Elliott, Marshall Harmsie, Annette Smith, Roy Winchester, Jeanette Wells and Lucy Marshall. Mrs. Frank was her houseguest from New York City, Miss Ruth Parry and the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Small.

CLUB WILL MEET FRIDAY AT PARK

Santa Ana Garden Study club will discuss three interesting topics when it meets at 2:30 p. m. Friday, Aug. 14, in Fullerton park, with Mary Walker as hostess.

Members are to respond to roll call with original garden rhymes. The program will include talks on "Perennials To Be Grown from Seeds for Next Year's Garden," by Jean Paxton; "The Year's Garden Calendar," by Molly Redmond; "Roses," by Lena McMillan.

At 6 o'clock, the husbands of the members are invited to join them for a pot-luck dinner at the park.

STATES GOING EAST

Mr. and Mrs. John E. State and two children, John, Jr., and Gloria, will leave Wednesday for a month's vacation to visit Mrs. State's relatives in Mount Vernon, Wis., and Mr. State's family at Dow, Iowa. On Sept. 5 and 6, they will attend a family reunion at the home of Mr. State's parents, when the majority of his eight brothers and four sisters will be present with their families. Two brothers live in Long Beach, but the others are all residents of Iowa and Minnesota. Mr. State will be back at the Main service garage about Sept. 12. He has been manager of the repair department there for the past 10 years.

This one-piece frock of soft gray silk shantung, designed for vacation wear, has one of the bifurcated skirts which have taken the fashion world by storm. It is worn with a bright silk bandanna in tones of green, gray and orange. Black glasses, to protect the eyes from the sun, and white sports shoes and socks complete the costume.

MRS. EGGLETON FETED BY TRIO AT SHOWER

Gifts were showered upon Mrs. Beverly Eggleton Friday evening when her daughter, Louetta, and two of her friends, Mrs. Oral Sands and Mrs. Marshall Burke, complimented her at a layette shower.

Thirty friends gathered at the Eggleton home, 450 West First street, Tustin, for contract bridge in the early part of the evening. Score awards were presented to Mrs. Everett Eggleton and Miss Josephine Roy.

At the conclusion of play, the nursery doors opened to let a miniature zeppelin, loaded with gifts, slide into the room where refreshments were being served.

In the back of a stork, "flying" behind the zeppelin, was a note to Mrs. Eggleton. It read: Storkland, Aug. 7, 1936. Mrs. Beverly Eggleton, Tustin, Calif.

"Finding myself overworked and losing my pep, have enlisted the services of this Zepp. Just content to relax and hang on behind. Feeling sure we'll arrive right on time. Trusting this message will not affect my standing, hence wishing you luck and a happy landing. All tucked out, Old Man Stork."

Among those gathered to compliment Mrs. Eggleton were Mesdames Gale Elliott, Florence Wells, Roy Compton, Jess Herren, Edward Cochems, Lloyd Horal, Russell Cochems, Don Park, Elmer Davis, Charles E. Wilson, Ray King, Roscoe Dietrich, Denita Davis, Oddie Nichols, Santa Ana; Mesdames Cecil Suddaby, Marshall Burke, Ray Auger, Alice Martin, Dorothy Alist, Miss Josephine Roy and Miss Ena Belle Eggleton, Tustin; Mrs. Oscar Cochems, Long Beach; Mrs. Ella McKean, Los Angeles; Mrs. Everett Eggleton and Mrs. Bill Sproul, Occidental; Mrs. Sidney Eggleton, Garden Grove; Mrs. Paul Johnson, Whittier; and Mrs. George Larson, San Bernardino.

Gifts were sent by those unable to attend, including Mrs. A. L. Hanson, San Bernardino; Mrs. Homer Tyler, Mrs. S. P. Wilson, Mrs. Kenneth R. Coulson, Miss Eleanor Cozad and Mrs. Hattie E. Cozad, Santa Ana; Mrs. Bill Cox, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ethel Mansfield, Anaheim; and Miss La Verne Hoyle, Pasadena.

M'FADDENS HOME FROM LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McFadden of 1108 North Main street and their daughter, Flora, returned the last of the week from a three-week vacation at McGowan lake near Mount Lassen in Tehama county.

Their son, Robert, also spent one week of the time with them after he had finished a six-week training period at the R. O. T. C. camp.

UTTS HAVE HOUSE GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Utt of Lemon Heights are entertaining as their house guests their two granddaughters, Dorothy Hess and Jean Robertson, both of Simi, Calif.

Another guest in the home is Mrs. Utt's sister, Miss Agnes Cummings, who is convalescing after an automobile accident.

WEDDING IN RIVERSIDE

Miss Pearl Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Schroeder of Whittier, became the bride of Claire Barton at a simple wedding ceremony read at the home of the Rev. Mr. E. J. Egly at Riverside. After a honeymoon trip, they will make their home in Whittier.

YACHT COLONY CONCLUDES GAY WEEK

Concluding a week of gayety inspired by the annual regatta of the Southern California Yachting Association was the colorful dinner dance attended by members of the Southland's yachting colony Saturday night at the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

During the week, a highlight of the social events staged in connection with the regatta was the Hawaiian Nights fete of Wednesday night, attended by some 3,000 yachtsmen and their families on 600 boats.

Commodore J. A. Beck and Horace White were chairmen of the Wednesday land fete.

Among Commodores and Commanders attending the regatta, and the clubs they represented, were Wallace B. Eaton, San Diego; L. N. Slater, Los Angeles; H. G. Dunningham, Transpacific; John Stork, California; Paul Franklin Johnson, Balboa; D. G. Taylor, Catalina Island; H. W. Rohl, host club; Henry G. Weston, Coronado; Eugene Overton, South Coast Corinthian; Richard Russell, Alamitos Bay; J. Forsythe, Hi-N-Dri Yacht club, and Paul Lampert, Long Beach Yacht club.

CHINA VISITORS LEAVE FOR CONNECTICUT

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worley and children, Clara Gene, Wiltzie and Jimmie, who have been visiting Mrs. Worley's parents, Rev. and Mrs. G. B. Wiltzie, and her sister, Mrs. O. Scott McFarland, in Santa Ana for a few weeks, departed Monday with their car and house trailer for a leisurely trip back to New Haven, Conn., where they will spend a year.

Here on a long furlough from missionary work in China, they plan to visit the parks of the west before leaving for the other coast, spending about a month in Yosemite and Yellowstone parks and other points of interest, and then start on the cross country journey.

Before their departure yesterday, the visitors had dinner with the family at the McFarland home on Orange avenue.

VACATIONERS SEE STARS IN MOUNTAINS

Witnessing scenes of a motion picture in the making, and securing signatures of three noted stars, vacationers enjoyed thrills in the vacation of Patsy Beth, Mary Lou and Bill McGee, Jr.

The three youngsters returned Sunday evening from a two-week outing at Big Bear lake with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. McGee, 1717 Bush street.

Stars who gave the youngsters their autographs are Heather Angel, Ralph Forbes and George O'Brien.

VISITORS IN YACHT COLONY

Phillips, daughter of the former couple. Mrs. Phillips is vacationing on her cruiser, Blue Peter, which is anchored at Newport harbor and her sons, Billie and Bob, are with her.

STATE P. T. A. PLANS MEETING

California Congress of Parents and Teachers will officially open its fall season Sept. 1 and 2 when Mrs. B. C. Clark of Sutter Creek, state president, conducts the first 1936-37 executive board meeting at Oakland.

Entertain at Beach Home

Mr. and Mrs. William Graves of 614 South Sycamore street entertained Saturday night at a dinner at their Laguna Beach home on Magnolia drive, decorating the rooms with roses and many hued blossoms. Asters formed the table decorations.

A menu of Italian dishes was served to the guests, and a friendly game of bridge, mixed with social chat, was enjoyed following the delicious meal.

Enjoying the hospitality of the Graves home were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pankey of Lemon Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vance, Mr. and Mrs. George Howley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Artz, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hood, all of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Jay Brown of Orange, Fay Wright of Anaheim, and Mr. and Mrs. Clare Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. William Diers of Santa Ana.

CHOIR GIVES KITCHEN GIFTS TO COUPLE

Their happy days with the choir of the First Christian church will be recalled whenever a soon-to-be bride and groom work about their kitchen among the many pretty utensils and furnishings presented them by fellow choir members recently at a surprise kitchen shower.

Honored guests at the party, which was given out at Anaheim park by the members of the choir in which both have sung for some time, were Miss Nell Laub of Santa Ana and Nelson Ebers of Orange, whose wedding is to be an event of Aug. 23 at the First Christian church.

The shower was a complete surprise to the pair, and a greater part of the evening was spent unwrapping and examining the lovely gifts.

Participating in the good time with the affianced pair were the Messrs. and Mesdames Edward Green, James Downey, G. Willard Bassett, Charles Hill of Orange, R. S. Briggs of Costa Mesa, and Frank Pierce; Mrs. Herbert Necks, Mrs. Virrel Bassett, Muriel Green, Miss Ruth Bassett, Mrs. Jack and Bob Rummels, Mrs. Charles Phillips, Rev. Mr. W. S. Buchanan, and Miss Lizette Phillips.

Mr. Pierce and Mr. Buchanan presented the gifts to the couple, bringing them in a large clothes basket.

N. D. G. W. HEAR STATE APPOINTMENTS

Native Daughters of the Golden West have heard with interest this week the names of appointments made to state chairmanships by Mrs. Florence D. Boyle of Oroville, Calif., president.

Miss Grace Stoerner of Los Angeles parlor No. 124, and one of the Southland's most prominent of women leaders, has been named state chairman of welfare and legislation; Mrs. Hazel B. Hansen of Ventura parlor No. 240, Clara, appointed a member of the standing committee of the state order; Mrs. C. E. Norenberg of California parlor No. 247, member of the education committee.

Mrs. Martha Decker, ritual and Native Daughters, and Mrs. Florence D. Boyle, state chairman of welfare and legislation; Mrs. Ernestine Aylward, Americanism; Miss Dorothy Riddle of Long Beach, publicity; Mrs. Ella V. Steinbeck, California history and landmarks; Anna T. Shiesbach, veterans' welfare; and Mrs. Ora Evans, relic collection.

SANTA ANA MAN TAKES BRIDE IN CITY

The surprise wedding of Wendell Lukens, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lukens, Santa Ana, and Miss Helen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Smith, San Bernardino, was announced today following the couple's return from a honeymoon at Huntington lake.

With Miss Mildred Lukens, sister of the bridegroom, and Doyle Gilbert, Los Angeles, as attendants, the couple were married Aug. 5 in Los Angeles, at the home of the Rev. Glenn Moore, who officiated.

The bride wore a navy taffeta suit with harmonizing accessories. She and her husband attended the University of California at Los Angeles, where they formed the friendship that led to their marriage.

"They will be at home to friends after this week at 1406 West Third street. Mr. Lukens is associated with his brother, James Lukens, in a local dairy business."

Monthly meeting of the Martha Washington club, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed, officers announced today. Date of the meeting will be decided upon later this month.

KOOL KOOKERY

Dedicated to helping Santa Ana arrange cooling meals with a minimum effort and cooking, this column will present daily a recipe appropriate for hot-weather menus.

Mrs. Charles Carlson puts new flavor into lima beans by cooking them with a ham hock. She first boils the ham for an hour or more, to remove some of its salt.

When the beans are almost done, in goes the ham. String beans and ham hock also make a good combination.

Another Santa Ana woman adds a thin slice of onion to canned peas, while heating them. It takes away the "canned" taste, without leaving an onion flavor, she says.

Farm Women Plan Busy Fall

Each County Farm Home Department in Farm Bureau Region No. 1 will have a small exhibit at the regional Farm Bureau meeting to be held in Santa Ana in September, according to plans made at a recent meeting of the farm women of the county.

The displays will feature home demonstration or summer camp activities, including favorite dishes, clothing, home decoration, and craft work.

A number of other interesting events have been planned by the department, one of the earliest of which will be a visit on the morning of August 28 to the Val-Vita cannery at Fullerton to see the process of commercial canning from the making of the cans to the completion of the product for the market.

On September 29, in the evening, six women of the county will participate in a public speaking contest at Anaheim park on the subject "What Is Ahead for Rural America?" Contestants are Mrs. S. W. Stanley, Mrs. Charles Leslie, Mrs. Lewis Walker, Mrs. LeRoy Lyons, Mrs. R. D. Flaherty, and Mrs. A. J. Schutte. The winner in this county-wide contest will compete in a state meet to be held during the California Farm Bureau meeting in Pasadena early in December; and state winners will compete in a national contest which will feature the American Farm Bureau federation meeting in Pasadena just following the state session.

Orange County Farm Bureau chorus, now rehearsing under the leadership of Frank Pierce, will make its initial public appearance at this meeting in Anaheim park. On the general arrangements committee for this meeting are Mrs. G. D. Grist, Mrs. A. E. Christensen, and Mrs. D. P. Leonard.

Two other meetings of special interest are being planned for October 8 and 9, when Miss Jessie Lee Dicke, extension specialist in home furnishing, and Miss Frances Liles, Orange county home demonstration agent, will show how to repair spring cushions.

SHOWER HONORS AUGUST BRIDE-TO-BE

Mrs. LeRoy Levens and Miss Hazel Schwarm joined as co-hostesses recently at a lovely party in the former's home on Eastwood, entertaining at a pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Morene Wood, bride-elect of Eugene McMillan.

A surprise shower of personal and linen gifts was a delightful feature of the evening, which was spent playing "Easy Money" and "Go Fish."

After the gifts had been presented, the hostesses served a dainty refreshment course to their guests, who included Miss Woods, Mrs. R. C. McMillan, mother of the bridegroom-elect, the Mesdames Al Reinhold, Mae Harwood, and Ed Schwarm, and the Mesdames Esther Heemstra, Helen Fine, Gertrude Vaughn, Margaret and Mildred Goodwin, Violet Rogers, Alice Nelson and Geraldine Griffith.

Miss Wood and Mr. McMillan have chosen August 28 as the date for their wedding, which will take place in Santa Ana. Their betrothal was told earlier this month at a meeting of Mary Martha circle of the Spurgeon Memorial church.

FORMER SANTA ANAN VISITS PARENTS HERE

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Nelson of 707 East First street have been enjoying a visit from their son, William Kenneth Nelson, and his wife of Wood River, Ill., where Mr. Nelson has been senior research chemist with the Shell Oil company for the past six years.

This is his first visit in Santa Ana since accepting that position. He received his schooling in this city and attended the local junior college. He later entered Stanford university, from which he was graduated in 1924, and was affiliated there with Phi Lambda Upsilon, Alpha Chi Sigma, and Sigma Chi fraternities.

He is noting extensive changes and important improvements in Santa Ana since his departure six years ago.

WOMEN GOLFERS MOTOR TO LONG BEACH

Women golfers of Santa Ana Country club went to Long Beach today on invitation from the Virginia Country club for a game over its course and luncheon in the clubhouse. Twenty members of the local group joined in the party, among them Mrs. Don Andrews of 941 West Camille, chairman of the Santa Ana Women Golfers.

CALUMPIT WOMEN MEET TONIGHT

Calumpit Auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans will hold a social meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the K. of C. hall, with cards and other forms of entertainment planned for the evening. All members are urged to be present.

The sewing meeting planned for tomorrow has been postponed until Wednesday, August 19, and will be held at the Laguna Beach home of Mrs. Emma K. Wassum, who is now on a trip to Oregon.

BRIDE-TO-BE FETED BEFORE WEDDING

Miss Pauline Lockwood, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Lockwood of Santa Ana, and whose wedding with C. A. McElderry, Jr., of San Francisco, is to be an event of next Saturday night at Santa Ana Wedding chapel, is expected home some time late today from San Francisco, where she went with her fiancé's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. McElderry of San Marino.

The bridegroom-elect will accompany them south, in time to participate in the events scheduled before the wedding. Thursday evening has been selected for the rehearsal, which will be preceded by a dinner for the bridal party in Jack Fisher park.

On Friday, Dr. and Mrs. McElderry will entertain the same group and a coterie of their friends at their home, the final affair before the nuptials. The couple will make their home in San Francisco following their marriage.

Mary Stoddard Love Surviving Divorce to Be Fostered, Not Choked with 'Conditions'

By MARY STODDARD

A wife wrote recently, begging someone to tell her how she might win her husband back.

Under the strain of financial difficulties, she divorced him. He asked her on several occasions to return to him, but, as she put it, her pride prevented her from doing so; also her relatives advised her against it. Now he is growing indifferent. They have two small children and she realizes they need him, too. A man who went through a similar experience answers her as follows:

AUXILIARY TO I. T. U. PLANS GARDEN PARTY

Plans for a garden dessert party August 24 at the E. W. Ellis home, 725 Cypress avenue were discussed Monday night by members of the women's auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical Union, at a meeting at the Ellis home. The dessert course will be served at one o'clock, and hostesses for the affair will be Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. C. E. Fisher, and Mrs. E. R. Kimmel.

Mrs. V. C. Shidler, auxiliary president, presided over the business meeting Monday, Mrs. J. W. Parkinson acting as co-hostess with Mrs. Ellis.

The next regular business meeting will be September 14 at the G. W. Duke home, 3095 South Park street, with Mrs. Mabel Sherwood as co-hostess.

REGIMENT TO ATTEND COUPLE IN WEDDING

The entire Two Hundred Fifty-First Regiment will participate in the wedding ceremony in which Miss Velma Eismann of Costa Mesa and Sergt. Earl L. Patterson of Battery E, Two Hundred Fifty-First Coast Anti-Aircraft Artillery, will be united in marriage Thursday in Ventura, where the unit is stationed.

The wedding rites will be performed by Maj. Martin Luther Thomas, chaplain, and following the ceremony the bride and bridegroom will review the troops. Col. John H. Sherman, regimental commander, will be among the prominent persons attending.

GIVE MORE TIME TO REGISTER FOR CAMP

Extension of the registration period preceding Girl Scout camp was announced today by Mrs. Paul Bailey, as inquiries concerning the two weeks annual outing came from Santa Ana parents.

Aug. 13 is the new date set by the Scout council, to allow more girls to enroll for camp, to be held in the San Bernardino mountains from Aug. 20 to Sept. 3.

Sketching will be added to the craftwork subjects this year. Ppetry courses will be repeated, and a fresh water aquarium is planned as part of the nature study program.

Old Vermont Recalled in Party

Miss Marian Aiken, whose marriage to R. J. Pearson of Fullerton is to be an event of Friday, shared honors with her husband-to-be Saturday night in a unique "Old-Vermont" party given by Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Scott at their home on Palm street in Pasadena.

The party was a family affair, the guests being for the most part uncles and aunts and cousins who had lived in Vermont years ago and who recalled the maple sugar parties of their youth.

Copied the delectable dish they used to concoct in those past winters by pouring melted maple sugar over snow and eating it with plain raised doughnuts and dill pickles, the hostess melted maple sugar which had been sent from Vermont, poured it over six-inch squares of ice and served it to her guests with the same delicacies which completed the Vermont meal.

Flowers decorating the rooms of the home, however, were truly Californian, and in bright summer hues, creating a colorful setting for the delightful pre-nuptial courtesy for the pair.

Guests invited to honor Miss Aiken and Mr. Pearson on this occasion were the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Aiken of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. G. Sam Scott, W. A. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, Scott Brown, David Brown, Prudence Brown, Robert Scott, William Scott, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Scott, all of Pasadena, and Mr. and Mrs. William Bradley of Orange.

Gifts of a miscellaneous nature, chosen for the new home of the couple, were presented to them by the assembled relatives.

YOUNG PEOPLE, FRIENDS VISIT SCHMOOCKS

There is much coming and going in the household of the Rev. William Schmooch and Mrs. Schmooch, 816 Brown street, as the summer vacation period draws to a close.

Enno Schmooch, son of the couple, returned Sunday from a week at Redondo Beach, with his host and hostess, Miss Helen and Melvin Joesting, accompanying him, to visit with the Schmoochs for the day.

Other guests that same day were the Rev. Edward Wachholz, Mrs. Wachholz and their two sons, Arnold and Lawrence. Both of the young men are spending the holiday with their parents, before returning to their studies.

Arnold is a student at the Chicago teachers seminary, Lawrence, a student at Concordia college, Oakland, will return to classes Sept. 10 with Enno Schmooch, who was elected student body president of the college before the spring term closed

Symptoms of Cerebro Spinal Fever

By CLAUD NORTH CRISSMAN.
Cerebro-spinal fever, often referred to as spotted fever, differs from Polio-myelitis in that paralysis does not follow it, and it occurs much more frequently during winter and spring.

The majority of cases are under ten years of age, usually occurring where sanitary conditions are bad.

Infectious Disease
Cerebro-spinal fever is probably infectious and presumably enters the body through the nasal passages, extending from there directly into the brain fluid.

Injury to the head, exposure or excessive mental and physical exertion often precede the attack. It is an inflammation of the brain fluid and tissue with swelling and consequent pressure on the brain itself. It may begin with a feeling of depression, vomiting, headache and pain in the back for several days, but it usually starts suddenly.

Symptoms Listed
Fever, headache, severe prostration, vomiting, pain in the neck and limbs, chills, and sometimes spasms are prominent symptoms. Stiffness of the neck develops rapidly and the head may be drawn back until it almost rests on the shoulders. Any attempt to move the head causes extreme pain and a sharp piercing scream.

The sufferer is delirious and restless, the flesh is very tender. He is sensitive to light or the slightest noise. A stricken child will lie on its side with the legs rigid and drawn back, as well as the head, until they almost meet. The face becomes congested, the eyes blood-shot and twitching. Fever blisters around the mouth, nose, and face multiply and a purplish eruption may appear over the entire body.

Complications Arise
The average case lasts for three or four weeks, or it may become chronic and persist for months. Less of sight and deafness sometimes results from extension of the inflammation to their nerves or from pressure due to the extreme swelling of the brain and spinal tissues. The mind is frequently affected in these cases and loss of memory and mental weakness may result. Inflammation of the heart and kidneys is not uncommon.

Treatment Given
The diagnosis is made positive by an examination of the spinal fluid and the introduction of a needle into the spinal column to observe the amount of force exerted on the fluid. Frequent withdrawal of fluid from the canal relieves the intra-cranial pressure.

After the fluid is withdrawn in sufficient quantity and withdrawing the needle, meningococci serum is injected into the canal where it comes into direct contact with the diseased tissue.

SISTERS JOIN AS CLUB HOSTESSES

Jean and Betty Rowland were co-hostesses last night to their bridge club, entertaining the members at the home of their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Elliott Rowland, 2418 Fairmont avenue.

High prize for the evening's play was won by Mrs. Roy Griset. After the card games, the hostesses served dainty refreshments to their guests, who included the Mesdames Edward Sugden, Thomas Jentges, Roy Griset, Herbert Hill, W. W. Barnett, and Miss Alice Majors.

RIVERSIDE FAMILY SPENDS WEEK-END HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Kressin and family of Riverside joined the W. V. Andersen family this week-end at the latter's home at 627 South Sycamore, Santa Ana.

The birthday of Wilbur Lee Andersen, son of the hosts, was celebrated informally with a family dinner and birthday cake during the visit of the Kressins, who are his uncle and aunt.

HOUSE PARTY ENDS FRIDAY

Returning home late Friday, members of Tau Delta Phi club brought their house party to an end after a delightful week spent in the Forrest Bennett mountain cabin at Forest Home.

Among those spending the vacation at the cabin were Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Alan R. Howell, Mrs. Wayne Bartholomew, Mrs. Clare McDuff, Mrs. Kermit Maynard, Mrs. Palmer Stoddard, Mrs. Forrest Bennett, and Miss Lucille Howell.

GUESTS FROM PENNSYLVANIA

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Schouler, who came to Santa Ana recently from El Centro and opened a shop for women, have had as their houseguests for several days Mr. and Mrs. John Kestel, friends from North-East, Pa.

The Kestels came out on their wedding trip, and were so pleased with Santa Ana that they are remaining to make their home on West Seventeenth street, Mr. Kestel going into business here.

SORORITY PLANS SPAGHETTI MEAL

Sigma Tau Psi sorority members, their husbands and gentlemen friends will gather in the gardens of the E. R. Majors home on North Flower street tomorrow night for a spaghetti dinner and informal social evening.

For the Living

TODAY, a bouquet to:
MRS. ROBERT SANDON, recently installed president of American Legion auxiliary unit No. 131, who has just launched her activity for the coming year by naming a group of committees to assist her in her administration.

By GLENN L. THORNE

According to Rep. Bertrand Snell, New York, the New Deal administration has spent over $32,000,000,000 or $1250 per family. I'd like to learn how it's done, when we only have one-sixth of that amount, or $5,000,000,000 in bills and coins now in circulation. Must be a rapid turnover system somewhere which refutes critics' claims that the administration has no financial policy. Looks to me like they've got one: "Spend all the money that can be gathered in, borrowed, and in as many ways as possible."

But cheer up. The bill to soak the rich will raise $250,000,000 which will run the government for 10 days per year. That only leaves 355 days for the rest of us. $1250 per family, eh?

I'd rather have the money.

Teach Child to Cook

By JUDITH WILSON

Every child feels the fascination of combining raw ingredients into the delectable dishes that all the family can enjoy. Little boys as well as little girls like to cook and they should be encouraged to do so.

Teach the child the first basic principles of measuring, of assembling all of the proper pans, bowls, spoons and other equipment before he starts. Teach him to combine the various ingredients and do not skip on your explanation of the whys and wherefores of each step—and of each ingredient used.

Here is one recipe that the child can prepare and you needn't hesitate to invite a friend or two to drop in to sample and praise:

Banana Custard

Mix 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add the slightly beaten yolks of 2 eggs. Pour in 2 cups scalded milk, stirring constantly. Cook in a double boiler until thick enough to coat a spoon. Cool slightly, flavor with 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and chill. Serve in rather large dishes with a garnish of sweetened whipped cream and a heap of banana slices in each dish. Serve immediately.

ANNIVERSARY OCCASION FOR SURPRISE PARTY

When Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ivins of 1002 Cypress street, and their niece, Virginia Alvais, drove out to the George Rosemeyer home on Sierra Vista ranch in Perris valley Saturday, to bring home their daughter, Blanche Ivins, they found a pleasant surprise awaiting them.

Gathered there on their arrival was a party of friends invited by Miss Ivins to celebrate the 19th wedding anniversary of her parents, and an evening of 500 enjoyed, with prizes going to Mrs. Ivins and Roy Clark, for high scores, and to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, for consolation.

Later in the evening, the guests were seated at one long table centered by a miniature bride and groom, where ice cream and a beautifully decorated bride's cake were served.

The guests, beside the two honored guests and their daughter and niece, included Mr. and Mrs. Rosemeyer and daughter, Hilda; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown and daughter, Hazel; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark, sr. and sons, Roy, Jr. and Quintin; Bo Hotchkiss, all of Perris; Orvil Alile of Riverside, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy White of Corona.

The Ivins family returned to their home Sunday evening, Miss Ivins having been a guest at the ranch for several weeks.

REYERS HAVE DINNER GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reyers of 232 North Broadway entertained as dinner guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Levenhagen of San Diego, and the latter's nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Devine of Los Angeles. The Devines have been visiting the Levenhagens in the southern city.

Mr. Lou Westervelt of Pasadena, who has been a house guest of the Reyers for several days, returning home last night, was also a guest on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tiernan and small daughter left by auto today for a vacation trip to British Columbia.

Miss Laura Hansen, 829 French street, left Sunday for a three-weeks visit with her father and sister at Boscebel, Wis.

Mrs. James Wilson of Los Angeles, cousin of A. W. Rutan, spent several days in Santa Ana recently with Mr. and Mrs. Rutan on Riverside drive.

Miss Susanna Alexander, 1414 1/2 North Main street, is spending August at a new Girl Scout camp in the San Diego division, located at Lake Cuyamaca, where she is counselor for swimming.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Maier and their two daughters, who left Santa Ana a year ago and who have been in Minnesota during that time, have returned to this city to establish their home again.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis C. Diehl, 1714 Heliotrope, returned home Sunday from Berkeley accompanied by their daughter, Miss Janet Diehl, who had been attending summer session at the University of California. Miss Diehl will spend a short time with her parents before returning to the Berkeley campus for senior year.

Suit for divorce was instituted in Reno, Nev., yesterday by James William Kincaid against Edna Elsie Kincaid of San Diego, according to Associated Press dispatches, which revealed that the couple married in Santa Ana on May 31, 1934. Cruelty was charged.

Mrs. Frank W. is entertaining as her house guest at her home at 617 Orange avenue, Miss Ruth Parry of New York City, who arrived Saturday to spend about a week.

Mrs. Blanche E. Hansen, Mr. and Mrs. John Knox, John Knox, Jr., and other relatives and friends gathered Sunday to compliment Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knox, visiting here from Ponca City, Okla.

Week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. West, West Seventeenth street, were Mrs. Mary Crox, Ventura, and Mrs. George Bertram, Los Angeles.

Mrs. Dean Laub, 114 Owen drive, returned Friday to her home after spending the past four weeks in Greeley, Colo., where her father has been seriously ill.

Mrs. W. A. West, deputy to Compton parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, and her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Mize, president of the local organization, will attend a meeting of the order to-night in Compton, where Mrs. West is to install new officers.

Five More Join Young Democrats

Five new members were accepted into membership of the Young Democrats club last night when Curtis Burrow presided over the regular meeting at the Green Cat cafe.

Those joining at the meeting were Robert E. Crowley, Harry G. Wheaton, Harry Westover, Irene Adkinson and Bryan Bostick.

Happy Birthday

The Journal today congratulates:

You Are Judged By Your Dog's Behavior

What nice manners Jack and Jill have! They're a credit to their mistress, thanks to her wise training.

How did she teach them to lie down so obediently at her command? She trained each pup by itself. She let no other person help or even look on. While Jack, for instance, was sitting, she grasped his collar with one hand and with the other gently stretched his front legs out on the ground. Meanwhile she repeated: "Down! Down!" After several trials Jack proudly took the proper position himself, at the word "Down!" Then she rewarded him with a pat on the head!

Our 32-page booklet tells you how to train your pet easily. Advice on feeding, grooming, housebreaking. Treatment for distemper, eczema, worms and other common dog ailments.

Send 10c for your copy of How to Choose and Care for Your Dog to The Journal Home Service, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Cal. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Bit by bit, Inspector Hylton has eliminated every person he suspects of the murder of old Arthur Burdett, until only Dale Shipley, Burdett's half nephew, is left. Hylton has plenty of evidence to justify arresting Dale, part of it acquired by an illegal meeting with a tramp. Hylton has hurried as fast as possible to Shipley's cottage, after talking with the last of his "suspicious list."

Chapter 28

FLIGHT

The door of Shipley's cottage was opened a foot or so by Mrs. Somers, who, when she saw who the visitor was, showed no inclination to increase the aperture.

"Mr. Shipley in?" she asked.

"No—he isn't in."

"Do you know where he's gone?"

"I can't say that I do."

"What time did he go out?"

"Well—I." The faithful Mrs. Somers seemed nonplussed, and a wild inspiration, such as had saved him more than once before, came to Hylton.

"I suppose he slept last night here, didn't he?" he asked.

Mrs. Somers turned brick red.

"I never said he didn't," she stammered.

"No, you don't," Hylton frustrated her determined effort to slam the door in his face by a lightning-like forward movement of his foot. The Inspector forced his way into the hall.

"Now look here, Mrs. Somers," he said, "you're acting like a fool. You know who I am and what business I'm here on. If you won't talk to me here I shall have you taken to Morehead Police Station and we'll keep you there until you do talk; so make up your mind."

The embarrassed and indignant red of Mrs. Somers' countenance had suddenly given way to dead white.

"What is it you want to know?" she asked woefully.

"I want to know everything you know about Shipley's whereabouts."

"I've no idea where he is."

"But you know something," Hylton said brutally, "and you'll tell it to me—now."

"Mr. Shipley went off yesterday evening."

"Went off?" Hylton was on the words like a ferret. "Where to?"

"I tell you I don't know."

"Tell me what you do know, Mrs. Somers, and quickly, please."

Take Best Cosmetics on Vacation

By JACQUELINE HUNT
Last call for vacationists! If you belong to the group of late-going folk, take time to take time and fun from mid-August until after Labor Day, let me remind you that taking along the right cosmetics for your trip is just as important as choosing the right articles for your wardrobe.

First of all, invest in one of the little traveling cases that contains a really excellent brand of soap and a complexion brush and has plenty of space for a toothbrush, toothpaste, nail brush and a wash cloth.

Take Cleansing Cream
Better take a supplementary cleanser, too, either a liquid (for very oily skins) or a cream for normal or dry skins.

A protective lotion that also serves as a powder base is also a necessity. There are some of the new lotions that will enable you to get a lovely suntan painlessly and at the same time serve as an excellent base for your make-up.

You will need a skin toning lotion, too, especially if you are traveling by train or bus and are subjected to smoke, dust and heat. A deodorant or anti-perspirant is an indispensable aid to good grooming at all times, but especially so when you travel.

Other Needs
If your skin is very dry be sure to take along a rich lubricating cream unless your cleansing cream answers the purpose. Do not forget your hair—a good brush, a comb, clips or pins, and curlers if you intend them. Brilliantine is essential. It restores the luster to your hair after a swim and helps to keep the wave in place. Of course, you should take along the necessary make-ups and just for good measure take a small bottle of eau de cologne, a pair of sun glasses and plenty of cotton and cleansing tissues.

There is something about owning a home that makes you akin to a king. It need only be a 5-room house on a 50-foot lot, but if it is your own domain, it's a place where you can close out the cares of the world and look in the joy and happiness of living.

Men of Vision

WHAT a gloriously fine thing it is for our states, our nation and humanity at large that we are not all mere grubbers, tied mentally and physically to the wheel of our own paltry individual pursuits.

How good it is for all of us that there are vigorous and unselfish minds at work all the time, exploring the future and bringing together the loose ends of possibilities that will eventually become important and valuable realities.

There ARE such minds at work in the United States and in the Southwest today.

Some of these minds have already constructed a vision of rich productivity in the Southwest, and are engaged in laying the foundation stones for a larger community of busier, happier people.

The importation of life-giving water from the Colorado river, the giant governmental power project at Boulder dam, the improvement of commercial and pleasure harbors along the coastline—all these betoken a vision of countless factories and farms from the Mexican border to the Tehachapi range.

The course of empire still is westward. The Pacific ocean will be more and more the center of world commerce.

The chief advantage in the production of useful goods, held until now by the states along the Atlantic seaboard, will shift—as this vision of great and easily available power develops—to Southern California.

Some of us may doubt and scoff, but the vision vaguely outlined here has already been seen and grasped by others who have the capacity and courage to make great dreams come true.

Progress marches on!

Twenty-four German boys and girls have landed in New York to study living conditions in American homes. Hope that when they go out to investigate they find somebody at home.

About That Pet Show

A HAPPY sight will greet those grownups who are wise enough tomorrow afternoon to follow their noses to the Municipal bowl where several hundred boys and girls will take part in a pet show and parade sponsored by the Santa Ana WPA recreation project.

Of course, the event won't be as big or spectacular as the Olympic Games. But it will be just as much fun, and it may contain a much more important lesson for us at home.

This lesson won't deal so much with the youngsters and their pets, although they will learn how to act in a public event where they have the main roles.

It will relate mainly to the importance of supervised play for youngsters. The adults who are lucky enough to see the exhibition will pick up some appreciation for a WPA project where an average of 1,500 kids a day at eight local playgrounds are taught games, music, handicraft and other so-called boondoggling things.

And if only a few of them become sold on the idea of supervised play to keep kids out of streets and mischief, the show will have done a good job.

Maybe the U. S. instead of Great Britain would have won if Al Smith had represented us in the 50,000 meter walk at Berlin.

With Music by Lohengrin

AT LEAST one board of supervisors is having a happy reconciliation party with a right bureau tax committee. That is our own board right here in Orange county. After sharply rapping the board over taxes and county jobs for the past six months, the farm bureau tax group members have come to the conclusion that the supervisors are doing a darn good job, and they have this to say:

In the opinion of the farm bureau, the supervisors in this budget have done one of those rare things in government wherein they have both reduced the amount of money to be raised and have reduced the tax rate at a time when the assessed valuation has been reduced over last year. In our opinion they have gone still further and have given to property owners a reduction to which they were entitled through the return of public utility property to the county tax rolls.

Such words are doubly sweet, coming in an election year when every office holder is legal game, and from an organization that isn't afraid to state its mind if it doesn't like the situation.

Jess Owens can do as he pleases about the $100,000 offer to turn pro, but it takes a long time to earn that much money at $20 a week.

No Time for Extravagances

KING EDWARD VIII is a fine young ruler, and he has taken the throne with the best wishes of the world. But even kings can do wrong, as history so often shows. And sometimes almost trivial mistakes cause enormous dissatisfaction and dislike among the populace.

On Page 1 of today's Journal a press dispatch reports that King Edward is going to drive 3,000 golf balls into the ocean for practice on a trip to the Adriatic. Those balls cost $1,500. That is a small amount for a rich young ruler to waste. But it would go far to support one of the English families who are paying taxes to maintain the royal household.

Crowned heads are toppling everywhere. The temper of the people is strained. Kings and rulers who are ostentatious with their personal extravagances soon become unpopular.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

The appointment of Richard Watts, Jr.—now Dickie Watts along the Rialto—to succeed the popular Percy Hammond, makes him the youngest dramatic reviewer to spangle the Death Watch. It was a Hammond's wish that the ruddy Irishman should take on his critical chore.

Watts has proved himself a skilled writer, but one of the interesting figures of the New York scene. Just shading the 30's, he has journeyed to all parts of the world. Respected and collegiate, his prototype may be seen on any college campus. A shy fellow who blushes.

He attends first nights always with his mother, whose familiar sprays of orchids are as much a part of the premiere as Herb Swope's curtain time rush to his front row seat. Watts began his newspapering as the movie critic on the same paper he now adorns. And is one of the town night owls.

A meticulous dresser, he is nevertheless an evening clothes atheist. And always appears in a business suit with a blue-collared shirt. He is a native of Charleston, W. Va., coming from a family of wealth and aristocracy, making him nearest to the Richard Harding Davis type of the era.

Greenwich Village is trying to shake off its past and thumb away from the Bohemian rhapsody that has aureoled it with free love, sandaled its feet and streaked it with atheistic gibber. Will Irwin claims much of the supposed Bohemia today exists only in the minds of press agents who emphasize the idea that genius lives in garrets to rent uncomfortable rooms and squeaky walk-ups. Many believe The Village has had its purge—and is today as free of Leftists and sundry garrulous crack-pots as Sutton or Beekman places.

The Village is the sixth richest of 26 districts in New York and has a greater percentage of home owners than any other section. So far this season, more than 3000 window boxes adorn these homes, which are not indicative of a mass of isms or a morass of long hair. There are more shades trees in the village per acreage than in any other metropolitan area. There are blocks, too, that suggest the Parc Monceau and Trocadero district of Paris. Church attendance in the Washington Square neighborhood is the highest per capita. Al Smith once described "The Village" as "the final stronghold of New York family life." The Village suffers from its plethora of goofy cafes and shiftless poseurs.

Among The Village's treasured traditions is that nine out of 72 people in the Hall of Fame once called The Village home. W. G. Bryant, an ex-Missourian who runs the weekly, The Villager, claims more top notch American writers have been hatched in The Village than anywhere else. He points to John Massell, Sinclair Lewis, Floyd Dell, Inez Haynes Irwin, Sarah Cornstock, Theodore Dreiser, Hendrik Van Loon, Joseph Wood Krutch, Ida Tarbell, Fannie Hurst, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Achmed Abdullah, Gelett Burgess, Harold Stearns, Isaac Marcossan, Arthur Roche, Juliet Tompkins and many lessers.

I like Idwal Jones's story of the corpulent fellow, glittering arrayed, riding down Hollywood boulevard in a flashy limousine a recent dusk. Joe Kerrigan, the Abbey player, who with Jones, said the obese show-off sharply recalled the elder Dumas, half mulatto and most spectacular of the authors. Dumas's son used to say: "Mon pere is so vain and ostentatious he is capable of riding behind in his own carriage to persuade people to believe he keeps a colored footman." That's the showiness that makes New York New Yorkish.

Idwal Jones, by the way, has just finished a volume of Chinese tales. There are to be only a thousand copies, privately circulated and I'm privileged to be on the list. Jones is one of the delvers into the foreign quarters of such cities as New York, San Francisco and New Orleans, and knows them well. He is listed by the Literary Guild as one of "the four leading Welsh writers." To which he replies: "I don't know who the other four may be. Reminds me of Queen Victoria who knew only two tunes: one was God Save the Queen, and other wasn't."

Bright Moments

Baron Edward Ellenborough, chief justice of England, was one day sitting in a case which held little promise of being anything but tiresome and filled with long-winded haranguing. Right in the midst of a long presentation of evidence, one lawyer turned to the judge and said: "Is it the pleasure of the court that I should proceed with my statement?" "Pleasure has been out of the question a long time," replied the judge, "but you may proceed."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—When President Roosevelt brought High Commissioner Frank Murphy back from the Philippine Islands and persuaded him to run for governor of Michigan, Democratic strategists purred with satisfaction. Young, able, popular, the red-headed Irishman has been a powerful vote-getter in Wayne county, which includes Detroit. The name Murphy has worked miracles in the county; at least 14 officeholders owe their election to his endorsement.

With Murphy heading the state ticket, New Dealers figured that the chances of the President carrying Michigan would be greatly enhanced. This was a reasonable conjecture, but reason doesn't always rule in politics. When Murphy announced for the governorship with the President's blessing, a mad rush was started by other Irishmen to climb on his bandwagon. The result has been a complete Irish slate, with the single exception of the candidate for U. S. senator.

But it happens that in Michigan the Poles not only are numerous but politically potent. In 1924 they elected three of their men to congress from Detroit. And Murphy's all-Irish ticket in the Democratic primary has so infuriated the Poles that they are swearing vengeance.

Republican, meanwhile, have been quick to take advantage of this threatened split. They are running George W. Welsh, former G. O. P. lieutenant-governor, for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination against Murphy.

What will be the outcome of this jumble is anybody's guess. But one thing appears certain. Mr. Murphy's candidacy may not prove the boon the administration so confidently thought it would be.

CHAUTAUQUA LANDON When Governor Landon goes to Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., to speak in the latter part of August, it will be a real home-coming.

For 18 summers, Landon's grandfather came regularly to Chautauqua, occupying a cottage next but one to that of Lewis A. Miller, wealthy Akron manufacturer and co-founder of the institution.

Between them was the "Fleming Cottage" occupied by the parents of Margaret Fleming, whom Alf Landon met every summer when he came there as a boy. Eventually he grew up and married Margaret, and she became the mother of Peggy Anne. The first child, Alfred M., Jr., died, and Margaret Fleming Landon died later.

President Roosevelt, who also speaks at Chautauqua Institute, is something of an old-timer there, too, though not as much as Landon. He has visited and spoken there as assistant secretary of the navy and as governor of New York. Mrs. Roosevelt has spoken there almost every year.

Carrying out the idea of a free forum, Norman Thomas also will speak at Chautauqua this year. Many Presidents have visited there in the past.

ACCIDENTS One of the most interesting facts uncovered by the Roper committee, appointed to investigate the cause of highway accidents, is that 10 states do not require auto drivers' permits. They are Illinois, Florida, Missouri, Montana, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Alabama, Arkansas and Georgia.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

AUGUST 11, 1911

J. B. Raine, the pioneer tile maker, who sold out his property and established near Winterburg several months ago, can't stand idleness, and has purchased a five-acre tract of land near Winterburg where he plans to go into the poultry raising business.

J. S. Strauts, 56 years of age, who drives a transfer wagon for the Pioneer Truck Company, suffered a broken collarbone yesterday. He was leaving the truck at an unloading platform when the team suddenly backed up, caused by tight reins, pinning him in back of the wagon. He was released by Arthur B. Humphrey and John B. Black, station employees who happened to be near by.

Misses Minnie and Rose Young came back yesterday from a pleasant visit in Los Angeles.

Attorney George W. Dryer, who has been spending a month's vacation in the East, arrived home yesterday. His trip was of both business and pleasure.

William Wakefield, the genial representative of the Wiley B. Allen Piano company, made a flying trip to San Juan Capistrano yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Milton, Jr., of East Fourth street, who are spending the summer with Mr. Milton's parents in England, are expected to return to America soon. They will sail for America Aug. 12, and will visit in New York state before returning to Santa Ana.

DROUGHT EXPERT? Agriculture experts are wondering why the President, in naming a man to head the Great Plains drought committee, reached out and picked Morris L. Cooke, a Philadelphia consulting engineer.

Cooke knows little about the West. The nearest he has come to suffering at the hands of the elements was when his summer home near Elston, Pa., was nearly swept away by high waters of the Delaware river last winter.

But Cooke has performed a real job in rural electrification, and is now expected to take the technical views of the drought scientists and boil them down to a readable report.

After a dramatic tour through the drought area, Cooke will put this report in the hands of the President when they meet a month hence, "somewhere out in the Dakotas." Meanwhile, Cooke is being gently lampooned by fellow New Dealers.

The other day Secretary Wallace was asked what he thought of the "little ponds" idea—Cooke's favorite scheme (also Lemke's) for preserving the waters of small streams.

Wallace smiled and said: "It's a nice little plan to play with."

With the aid of a portable X-ray developed for this purpose at the University of Minnesota, it is now possible to inspect fruits and vegetables for blemishes, flaws and presence of worms before marketing them. Shadow pictures show if a potato is hollow, if an apple is rotten to the core. Since the vegetable or fruit need not be cut to examine it, no waste is involved.

ATTENTION, MR. HEARST

To the Editor: It is certainly disgusting to see the bold headlines in so many newspapers favoring the present revolt in Spain. Not with bayonets, but with ballots, the citizens of Spain established their present government in a democratic way, and any newspaper that stands with the insurgents in the present civil war in Spain, I would expect this same paper to support a Fascist revolution in this country, if and when such an uprising should break out.

What Other Editors Say

A RECOGNITION (Springfield Republican)

The humanitarianism of President Roosevelt, as embodied in his record, is probably the most appealing aspect of his administration. Hundreds of thousands of unemployed youth, who under similar conditions in China or even Mexico would have recruited band armies, were taken by him and made a social asset instead of a social liability in the Civilian Conservation camps. He took over from exhausted states and cities the heavy burden of unemployment relief; he put millions to work until it hurt; but the only sign of revolt comes from entrenched wealth instead of from distressed poverty from inside the clubs instead of from outside on the street corners. He is the pioneer among Presidents in unemployment insurance and old-age pension legislation.

One Man's Opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

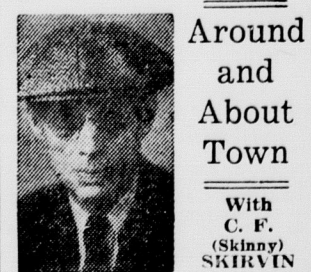

Despotism Comes When Moral Purposes Decoy

MANY observers of world affairs bewail the disappearance of democratic governments in Europe and the rise of dictatorships on the ruins of liberty. They picture "strong men" riding roughshod over the people, destroying the freedom won by generations of patriots. Mussolini is taken as the type, as he was the first, of the brood of dictators springing up here and there in Europe. Spain will probably follow the same line. When the battles subside the Spanish people will be wearing the yoke of despotism.

Of course, dictators do not rob peoples of their liberties. They do not establish themselves in power at the expense of freedom. They merely take advantage of the situation as it exists. The structure of liberty is already rotted through and through, crumbling to dust before the dictators can begin their dictating. Caesar did not destroy the Roman republic. The pillars of freedom had long before been gnawed away by the cankers of social decay. Napoleon did not snuff out the liberties of Europe. There never had been any liberty, never more than a hollow shell which crumbled at the Corsican's touch.

Mussolini did not suppress freedom in Italy. Nor has Hitler done so in Germany. There never had been more than a mere trace of freedom, the meager beginnings of Claude McDowell phoned for some information about the tides, the sun and the moon. Guess he was going to the beach and wanted to know whether it was a good time to "go in or stay out." That bird ought to know that I'm not an astronomical expert, and have no pull with the tides. I've always left that to the moon. But when it comes to the sun, there's where I shine. For a long time I have been up with the sun, and sometimes down with it. But I never mix up with the tides along the southern California coast. They haven't been behaving themselves lately, and I won't play unless the game is fair and peaceful. The tides have been getting too rough, even for the bathers.

If you can't get bad news in the regular way, someone will bring it to you. Frank Morse came in yesterday to remind me that he had an almond grove near my property in San Luis Obispo county. I had tried to forget it.

May I extend my appreciation to the influence which shifted the weather scenes Saturday afternoon. The atmosphere had everyting in it to remind one of other days in other localities. It was oppressively close, humidity predominating, and other elements calculated to inflict physical depression. Then suddenly from the ocean came that refreshing wind, and how quickly the conversation changed from complaint to compliment. It is so with most of our experience. We only appreciate the blessings when they are taken from us. You might give your government a once-over from this viewpoint. We have the greatest freedom the world has ever known, and yet we get a lot of yaps who want us to change for a yoke of specialized ism bondage.

Lambert Harris, who is guiding the pharmaceutical destinies of the Guard Pharmacy while the proprietor is touring the torrid midwest, reports that the boss expects to continue his vacation for about three weeks. Charley delayed the proposed trip in the hope that he would escape the heat, and then started just in time to strike it. Well, we haven't been doing so badly in southern California when it comes to hot weather. Only we get rid of it quicker.

We have the finest highways in the world, and a lot of people who do not know how to use them. Read the week-end casualty list if you need any more evidence.

An incident at the Iowa picnic! Fifty-three years ago a young farm lad who watched the trains go by, was finally lured to the rolling wheels. At that time railroad offered advancement. He started as a brakeman, finally drifted to the Rio Grande Western, advanced to passenger conductor, and is now on the retired list. When he left Iowa he parted with a young friend. During all that time they had never been in direct correspondence or personal contact. Saturday when he attended the Iowa picnic it was for the purpose of meeting his old friend. Believe it or not he selected out of the audience the man he had not seen for 53 years. Quite a memory test. And this incident, happened after the lightning hit a tree, and a lot of California people don't like to believe that, either.

It isn't difficult to explain to newspapermen how a post-mortem paragraph can get into the paper, but to tell the reader that all prepared copy is not published the same day it is written and put in type, well, that's another story. So when a paragraph about Zioncheck appeared in this column yesterday it was a corpus delicti. The Zioncheck item was written several days ago and peacefully rested upon the galley waiting for a "place in the sun." It would have been all right if Zioncheck hadn't jumped out of the window.

A substantial contribution to Santa Ana's prosperity will be introduced this week when the Holly Sugar Corporation opens its plant for a several months run gives employment to several hundred men, and distributes several hundred thousand dollars in wages. This isn't all that the activity represents, as beets had to be grown so they could be converted into sugar and by-products, and to get the material to the Dyer plant. Isn't it remarkable what a little seed can do? They give employment and food and shelter and happiness, and then occasionally someone comes along who wants to plough under our prosperity and sustenance. That sort of a policy would take the candy from the baby; and us older folks want candy, too. So here's hopin' Bob Daniels and Bill Baker keep the old plant going for many years. And by the way, when you are buying sugar, and you are mighty soon as the canning season is on us, local merchants sell the local product.
